Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, parts I and II, Adams' Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Algebra, as far as through simple equations.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

Preparatory Department.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following includes the list of studies :

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the definition of words.

English Grammar, (Parker's,) Arithmetic, oral and written, (Loomis'), Book-keeping, (Shea's,) Modern Geography, (McNally's,) Ancient Geography, (Mitchell's,) History of the United States and Great Britain, (Goodrich's Series,) Algebra, (Loomis') Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar, (Adams' and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader, (Jacobs' and Owen's,) Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil and Sallust.

Throughout the whole course the students are required to attend to English Grammar, and particular attention is paid to Orthoepy and the use of grammatical language in common conversation.

Students sufficiently advanced in this department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

Rhetorical Exercises.

The students attend to regular exercises in composition and declamation before some one of the instructors. The Senior and Junior classes have a weekly discussion before the President of the Institution.

The German Language,

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the students with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instructions are now regularly given in this department. Those who commence the study of this language in the primary class use Eichhorn's Practical German Grammar. Heyse's German Grammar is employed in instructing the advanced class, which is principally exercised in translating from the English into German, and in the use of the German conversational language. Written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, &c.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however, conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnean Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, and an admiration of the works of God, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and an acquaintance with animated nature, by making collections of specimens in these departments, as also in that of Antiquities, natural and artificial curiosities, and the like. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries and Apparatus.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The libraries of the two Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains.....	5000 vols.
The Phrenakosmian “ 	4100 “
The Philomathæan “ 	3800 “
The Linnæan “ 	100 “
The Education Society “ 	250 “
The German Society “ 	250 “

Total number of volumes,.....13,500

Examinations.

There are two public examinations during the College year. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians at the close of each term.

The final examination of the Senior class occurs five weeks before Commencement.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination before the Faculty, upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

The “Thompson” Scholarship.

This scholarship was instituted by a benevolent gentleman of the Presbyterian church. It was founded by him for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and best student who shall pass through the High School of Gettysburg.

The Freshman Prize-Fund.

A friend of the College has given the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) to the Institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of this fund is given at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Benevolent gentlemen of the church are kindly requested either to increase this fund by further gifts, or to found new prize funds for the other classes.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are held in the College Chapel every morning and evening, one of the Faculty officiating, and all the students are required to be present.

The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship.

They are also required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The expenses of the College, each session, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz :

WINTER SESSION.

Board, 24 weeks, at $2 per week,.....	$48 00
Tuition, ...	20 00
Room rent,.....	3 00
Attention to room,.....	3 00

Total, ...	$140 00

The tuition, room rent, and attention to room must be paid in advance in all cases. One half of the boarding for each session must likewise be paid in advance.

Students provide for themselves the furniture of their rooms, lights, washing, books and stationary

Students may board in clubs for a sum ranging from $1 62 to $1 75 per week.

FUNDS.

Parents desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Situation, College Edifice, etc.

Gettysburg is in sight of the South Mountain, a branch of the Blue Ridge, in one of the most healthful districts of Pennsylvania. It is distant from Philadelphia one hundred and twenty miles; from Pittsburg one hundred and eighty; from Baltimore fifty-two; from Frederick thirty-four; from Hagerstown thirty-four; from Chambersburg twenty-five; from Harrisburg thirty-five; with all of which places the communication is frequent and easy; so that it offers peculiar facilities to persons coming from the East or West, the South, or the interior of the State. These facilities have been greatly increased by the recent completion of the Railroad, which brings us into direct communication with Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg and other prominent points.

The College edifice is a chaste specimen of the Doric order of architecture, consisting of a centre building and two wings, with end projections. The whole length is one hundred and fifty feet. The building is four stories high, with blocking course two feet and half high, resting upon a heavy cornice around the entire building. On the centre is placed an octagonal cupola, eighteen feet and a half in diameter, and twenty-four feet high, with an observatory on its top. The entire front of the centre building (forty-six feet) is occupied by a portico, consisting of four fluted columns, four feet in diameter at their bases, and twenty-two feet and a half high, resting on abutments brought up to a level with the floor on the second story. On these columns rests an appropriate entablature, together with the roof, cornice, and blocking course of the centre building. The portico projects fourteen feet from the centre building, and is made accessible on the outside by a flight of steps equal in width to its whole front. The edifice is composed of brick, and the whole exterior is painted white. The building—besides a hall of eleven feet width from front to rear, in the centre building, on the second floor, and corridors on every floor, the entire length of the building—contains seventy-five apartments or rooms, fifty-four of which are designed for the use of students. The remainder are, a College Hall (forty-two by twenty-two feet) and a Library of the same size, two rooms for the Literary Societies, each forty-three by nineteen, on the fourth story, six recitation rooms, refectory, together with the necessary apartments for the Steward and family. The building on the West is the Linnæan Hall, the upper story of which is devoted to the Museum, the lower, to the recitation rooms of the Preparatory Department.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two terms or sessions. There are two vacations in the year, commencing on the third Thursday of April and September, each of six weeks continuance. The Spring and Fall vacations having been extended, the usual recess at Christmas, which has been attended with much loss of time and other inconveniences, is dispensed with. It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Second Degree.

The second degree in the arts is conferred at the end of three years, without any additional fee, on such graduates as have been engaged in literary or professional study, and have sustained a good moral character.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the third Thursday of September. The Baccalaureate Discourse is pronounced the Sunday preceding, by the President of the Institution. On the evening of the same day, Rev. D. Steck, A. M., of Lancaster, will deliver a discourse before the Bible Society. The annual exercises of the Junior class occur on Wednesday morning; in the afternoon there will be an address before the Linnæan Association by ALFERD STILLE, M. D., of Philadelphia, and the Phrenakosmian Society will be addressed by Prof. HENRY COPPEE, of Philadelphia. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon Rev. W. M. BAUM, A. M., of Winchester, Va.

SESSION OF 1859-60.

Medical Department.

The Medical Department is established in the city of Philadelphia. The College Edifice is situated on Ninth street, between Walnut and Spruce, in a central and pleasant part of the city, near the Pennsylvania Hospital. The building contains three Lecture-rooms, a spacious Museum, a Dissecting room, a Chemical Laboratory, a Registrar's office, a private room for each Professor, various ante-rooms for the students, and apartments for the Janitor. The situation of the lecture-rooms in the building precludes any annoyance from vehicles passing in the street.

The regular course of lectures for the session of 1859-60 will commence in the College building, Ninth St. below Locust, on Monday, October 10th, and will continue without intermission, until the 1st of March ensuing. For Clinical Instruction, the students of this college will have access to the courses of the Philadelphia (Blockley) and Pennsylvania Hospitals, in the former of which Professors Halsey and Meigs hold the position of clinical lecturers and consulting Surgeon and Physician. In both of these Institutions, medical and surgical cases, in great variety, are brought before the class, on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the session. So important is Hospital instruction deemed by the Faculty, that second course students are furnished with a ticket of admission, free of charge, to one of these institutions.

A Clinic will be held at the College every Wednesday and Saturday morning, throughout the session.

FEES.—Matriculation (paid once only),.....	$5 00
Graduation Fee,.....	30 00
Fee for each ticket,.....	15 00

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, parts I and II, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years ; each year being divided into two sessions.

The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

Preparatory Department.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following includes the list of studies :

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the definition of Words.

English Grammar, (Parker's,) Arithmetic, oral and written, (Loomis'), Book-keeping, (Shea's,) Modern Geography, (McNally's,) Ancient Geography, (Mitchell's,) History of the United States and Great Britain, (Goodrich's Series,) Algebra, (Loomis') Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar, (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader, (Jacobs' and Owen's,) Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil and Sallust.

Throughout the whole course the students are required to attend to English Grammar, and particular attention is paid to Orthoepey and the use of grammatical language in common conversation.

Students sufficiently advanced in this department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

Rhetorical Exercises.

The students attend to regular exercises in composition and declamation before some one of the instructors. The Senior and Junior classes have a weekly discussion before the President of the Institution.

The German Language.

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the students with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now regularly given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. Those who commence the study of this language use Eichhorn's German Grammar, which is succeeded by Heydenrich's German Reader, Schiller, &c. Heyse's German Grammar is employed in instructing advanced classes; the latter are also exercised in translating from the English into German, and in the use of the German conversational language. Written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, &c.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, and an admiration of the works of God, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and an acquaintance with animated nature, by making collections of specimens in these departments, as also in that of Antiquities, natural and artificial curiosities, and the like. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries and Apparatus.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The libraries of the three Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains.....	5200	vols.
The Phrenakosmian “	4200	“
The Philomathæan “	3850	“
The Linnæan “	100	“
The Education Society “	250	“
The German Society, “	250	“

Total number of volumes.....13,850

Examinations.

There are two public examinations during the College year. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians at the close of each term.

The final examination of the Senior class occurs five weeks before Commencement.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination before the Faculty, upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

The “Thompson” Scholarship.

This scholarship was instituted by a benevolent gentleman of the Presbyterian church. It was founded by him for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and best student who shall pass through the High School of Gettysburg.

The Freshman Prize-Fund.

A friend of the College has given the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) to the Institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Benevolent gentlemen of the church are kindly requested either to increase this fund by further gifts, or to found new prize funds for the other classes.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating, and all the students are required to be present.

The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship.

They are also required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The expenses of the College, each session, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

WINTER SESSION.

Board, 24 weeks, at $2 per week,.....	$48 00
Tuition,.....	20 00
Room rent,.....	3 00
Attention to room, ...	3 00
Washing,.....	6 00
	$80 00

SUMMER SESSION.

Board, 16 weeks,.....	$32 00
Tuition,.....	14 00
Room rent,.....	2 00
Attention to room,.....	2 00
Washing,.....	4 00
	$54 00
Fuel and lights, about.....	6 00
Total,.....	$140 00

The tuition, room rent, and attention to room must be paid in advance in all cases. One half of the boarding for each session must likewise be paid in advance.

Students provide for themselves the furniture of their rooms, lights, washing, books and stationary.

Students may board in clubs for a sum ranging from $1 62 to $1 75 per week.

Funds.

Parents desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Situation.

Gettysburg is in sight of the South Mountain, a branch of the Blue Ridge, in one of the most healthful districts of Pennsylvania. It is distant from Philadelphia one hundred and twenty miles; from Pittsburg one hundred and eighty; from Baltimore fifty-two; from Frederick thirty-four; from Hagerstown thirty-four; from Chambersburg twenty-five; from Harrisburg thirty-five; with all of which places the communication is frequent and easy; so that it offers peculiar facilities to persons coming from the East or West, the South, or the interior of the State. These facilities have been greatly increased by the recent completion of the Railroad, which brings us into direct communication with Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg and other prominent points.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two terms or sessions. There are two vacations in the year, commencing on the third Thursday of April and September, each of six weeks continuance. It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Second Degree.

The second degree in the arts is conferred at the end of three years, without any additional fee, on such graduates as have been engaged in literary or professional study, and have sustained a good moral character.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the third Thursday of September. The Baccalaureate Discourse is pronounced the Sunday preceding, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior class occur on Wednesday morning; on the same day there will be an address before the Linnæan Association by HON. WILLIAM JESSUP, LL. D., of Montrose, Pa., and the Philomathæan Society will be addressed by REV. C. P. KRAUTH, D. D., of Philadelphia. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon REV. J. B. BITTINGER, of Cleveland, O.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

Faculty.

B. HOWARD RAND, M. D.,

Professor of Medical Chemistry.

HENRY HARTSHORNE, M. D.,

Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

LEWIS D. HARLOW, M. D.,

Professor of Obstetrics, and Diseases of Women and Children.

WILLIAM S. HALSEY, M. D.,

Professor of the Principles and Practice of Surgery.

WILLIAM HEMBEL TAGGART, M. D.,

[Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics.

JAMES AITKEN MEIGS, M. D.,

Professor of Institutes of Medicine.

WILLIAM H. GOBRECHT, M. D.,

Professor of Anatomy.

THEODORE A. DEMMÉ, M. D.,

Demonstrator of Anatomy.

The Medical Department is established in the city of Philadelphia. The College Edifice is situated on Ninth street, between Walnut and Spruce, in a central and pleasant part of the city, near the Pennsylvania Hospital. The building contains three Lecture-rooms, a spacious Museum, a Dissecting room, a Chemical Laboratory, a Registrar's office, a private room for each Professor, various ante-rooms for the students, and apartments for the Janitor. The situation for the lecture-rooms in the building precludes any annoyance from vehicles passing in the street.

The regular course of lectures for the session of 1860-61 will commence in the College building, Ninth St. below Locust, on Monday, October 10th, and will continue without intermission, until the 1st of March ensuing. For Clinical Instruction, the students of this College will have access to the courses of the Philadelphia (Blockley) and Pennsylvania Hospitals, in the former of which Professors Halsey and Meigs hold the position of clinical lecturers and consulting Surgeon and Physician. In both of these Institutions, medical and surgical cases, in great variety, are brought before the class, on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the session. So important is Hospital instruction deemed by the Faculty, that second course students are furnished with a ticket of admission, free of charge, to one of these institutions.

A Clinic will be held at the College every Wednesday and Saturday morning, throughout the session.

FEES.—Matriculation, (paid once only),.....	$5 00
Graduation Fee,.....	30 00
Fee for each ticket,.....	15 00
Dissecting ticket,.....	10 00

The Dissecting Rooms will be opened in September under the supervision of the Professor of Anatomy assisted by the Demonstrator.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, parts I and II, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years ; each year being divided into two sessions.

The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

Preparatory Department.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following includes the list of studies:

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the definition of Words.

English Grammar, (Parker's,) Arithmetic, oral and written, (Loomis'), Book-keeping, (Shea's,) Modern Geography, (McNally's,) Ancient Geography, (Mitchell's,) History of the United States and Great Britain, (Goodrich's Series,) Algebra, (Loomis'), Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar, (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader, (Jacobs' and Owen's,) Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Caesar, Nepos, Virgil and Sallust.

Throughout the whole course the students are required to attend to English Grammar, and particular attention is paid to Orthocpy and the use of grammatical language in common conversation.

Students sufficiently advanced in this department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

Rhetorical Exercises.

The students attend to regular exercises in composition and declamation before some one of the instructors. The Senior and Junior classes have a weekly discussion before the President of the Institution.

The German Language.

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the students with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now regularly given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. Those who commence the study of this language use Eichhorn's German Grammar, which is succeeded by Heydenreich's German Reader, Schiller, &c. Heyse's German Grammar is employed in instructing advanced classes; the latter are also exercised in translating from the English into German, and in the use of the German conversational language. Written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, &c.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Finnarian Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, and an admiration of the works of God, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and an acquaintance with animated nature, by making collections of specimens in these departments, as also in that of Antiquities, natural and artificial curiosities, and the like. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries and Apparatus.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The libraries of the three Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains.....	5200	vols.
The Phrenakosmian “ 	4200	“
The Philomathæan “ 	3850	“
The Linnæan “ 	100	“
The Education Society “ 	250	“
The German Society, “ 	250	“

Total number of volumes,.....13,850

Examinations.

There are two public examinations during the College year. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians at the close of each term.

The final examination of the Senior class occurs five weeks before Commencement.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination before the Faculty, upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

The “Thompson” Scholarship.

This scholarship was instituted by a benevolent gentleman of the Presbyterian church. It was founded by him for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and best student who shall pass through the High School of Gettysburg.

The Freshman Prize-Fund.

A friend of the College has given the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) to the Institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Benevolent gentlemen of the church are kindly requested either to increase this fund by further gifts, or to found new prize funds for the other classes.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating, and all the students are required to be present.

The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship.

They are also required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The expenses of the College, each session, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

WINTER SESSION.

Board, 24 weeks, at $2 per week,.....	$48 00
Tuition,.....	20 00
Room rent,.....	3 00
Attention to room, ...	3 00
Washing,.....	6 00
	$80 00

SUMMER SESSION.

Board, 16 weeks,.....	$32 00
Tuition,.....	14 00
Room rent,.....	2 00
Attention to room,.....	2 00
Washing,.....	4 00
	—————$54 00
Fuel and lights, about.....	6 00
Total,.....	$140 00

The tuition, room rent, and attention to room must be paid in advance in all cases. One half of the boarding for each session must likewise be paid in advance.

Students provide for themselves the furniture of their rooms, lights, washing, books and stationary.

Students may board in clubs for a sum ranging from $1 62 to $1 75 per week.

Funds.

Parents desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Situation.

Gettysburg is in sight of the South Mountain, a branch of the Blue Ridge, in one of the most healthful districts of Pennsylvania. It is distant from Philadelphia one hundred and twenty miles; from Pittsburg one hundred and eighty; from Baltimore fifty-two; from Frederick thirty-four; from Hagerstown thirty-four; from Chambersburg twenty-five; from Harrisburg thirty-five; with all of which places the communication is frequent and easy; so that it offers peculiar facilities to persons coming from the East or West, the South, or the interior of the State. These facilities have been greatly increased by the recent completion of the Railroad, which brings us into direct communication with Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg and other prominent points.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two terms or sessions. There are two vacations in the year, commencing on the third Thursday of April and September, each of six weeks continuance. It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Second Degree.

The second degree in the arts is conferred at the end of three years, without any additional fee, on such graduates as have been engaged in literary or professional study, and have sustained a good moral character.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the third Thursday of September. The Baccalaureate Discourse is pronounced the Sunday preceding, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior class occur on Wednesday morning; on the same day there will be an address before the Linnaean Association by HON. WILLIAM JESSUP, LL. D., of Montrose, Pa., and the Philomathæan Society will be addressed by REV. C. P. KRAUTH, D. D., of Philadelphia. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon REV. J. B. BITTINGER, of Cleveland, O.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

Faculty.

B. HOWARD RAND, M. D.,

Professor of Medical Chemistry.

HENRY HARTSHORNE, M. D.,

Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

LEWIS D. HARLOW, M. D.,

Professor of Obstetrics, and Diseases of Women and Children.

WILLIAM S. HALSEY, M. D.,

Professor of the Principles and Practice of Surgery.

WILLIAM HEMBEL TAGGART, M. D.,

Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics.

JAMES AITKEN MEIGS, M. D.,

Professor of Institutes of Medicine.

WILLIAM H. GOBRECHT, M. D.,

Professor of Anatomy.

THEODORE A. DEMMÉ, M. D.,

Demonstrator of Anatomy.

The Medical Department is established in the city of Philadelphia. The College Edifice is situated on Ninth street, between Walnut and Spruce, in a central and pleasant part of the city, near the Pennsylvania Hospital. The building contains three Lecture-rooms, a spacious Museum, a Dissecting room, a Chemical Laboratory, a Registrar's office, a private room for each Professor, various ante-rooms for the students, and apartments for the Janitor. The situation for the lecture-rooms in the building precludes any annoyance from vehicles passing in the street.

The regular course of lectures for the session of 1860-61 will commence in the College building, Ninth St. below Locust, on Monday, October 10th, and will continue without intermission, until the 1st of March ensuing. For Clinical Instruction, the students of this College will have access to the courses of the Philadelphia (Blockley) and Pennsylvania Hospitals, in the former of which Professors Halsey and Meigs hold the position of clinical lecturers and consulting Surgeon and Physician. In both of these Institutions, medical and surgical cases, in great variety, are brought before the class, on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the session. So important is Hospital instruction deemed by the Faculty, that second course students are furnished with a ticket of admission, free of charge, to one of these institutions.

A Clinic will be held at the College every Wednesday and Saturday morning, throughout the session.

FEES.—Matriculation, (paid once only),.....	$5 00
Graduation Fee,.....	30 00
Fee for each ticket,.....	15 00
Dissecting ticket,.....	10 00

The Dissecting Rooms will be opened in September under the supervision of the Professor of Anatomy assisted by the Demonstrator.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches, to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Cicero's Orations, Livy, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's), Classical Antiquities, Xenophon's Anabasis, Cyropædia, Life of Agesilaus, Greek Grammar (Sophocles'), Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's), Ancient Geography (Schmidt's), German Grammar (Eichhorn's), and Heydenreich's Reader, Algebra (Loomis'), Geometry (Loomis'), Universal History (Weber's), Rhetoric (Coppée's), English Literature (Cleveland's), Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

Odes of Horace, Cicero de Officiis, Cicero de Senectute and de Amicitia, or the Tusculan Disputations, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Herodotus, or Thucydides, Xenophon's Memorabilia, or Plato's Apology and Crito, Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Classical Literature (Browne's), German, Eichhorn and Reader continued, Solid and Spherical Geometry (Loomis'), Conic Sections (Loomis'), Analytical, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry (Loomis'), Mensuration (Loomis'), Surveying (Loomis'), Analytical Geometry and Calculus (Loomis'), Mechanical Philosophy (Silliman's), Optics (Silliman's), Outlines of History (Weber's) continued, Trench on Words, Rhetoric (Blair's), Composition and Declamation.

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Satires, Epistles and Ars Poetica of Horace, Cicero de Oratore or Cicero de Natura Deorum, Latin Prose Composition, The Iliad or Odyssey of Homer, Prometheus of Æschylus, or the Alcestis of Euripides, German, Heyse's Grammar, Selections from Schiller, and Translations from English Authors, Lectures on Chemistry with Experiments, Mineralogy (Dana's), Botany (Wood's), Lectures on Meteorology, Elements of Criticism (Kames'), History of Civilization, (Guizot's), Rhetoric (Blair's) continued, Mental Philosophy (Haven's), Logic (Coppée's), Physiology (Hooker's) Composition and Declamation, Forensic Disputations.

SENIOR CLASS.

Tacitus' Histories, or the Agricola and Germania, Juvenal's Satires, Plautus or Terence, Latin Composition, Phædo of Plato, Demosthenes or Æschines on the Crown, The Antigone or Electra of Sophocles, Greek Composition, German Composition, Maria Stuart or Wilhelm Tell, German Translations and Conversational Exercises, Astronomy (Robinson's), Geology (Hitcheock's), Keith on the Globes, Political Economy (Wayland's with Lectures), Constitution of the United States (Sheppard's), Butler's Analogy, Moral Philosophy (Wayland's), Natural Theology (Paley's), Evidences of Christianity (Paley's), Forensic Disputations, Revision of the Course.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following includes the list of studies :

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the definition of Words, English Grammar (Parker's), Arithmetic (Loomis'), Book-keeping (Shea's), Modern Geography (McNally's), Ancient Geography (Mitchell's), History of the United States and Great Britain (Goodrich's Series), Algebra (Loomis'), Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader (Jacobs' and Owen's), Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil, and Sallust.

Throughout the whole course the students are required to attend to English Grammar, and particular attention is paid to Orthoepey and the use of grammatical language in common conversation.

Students sufficiently advanced in this department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

The German Language,

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the students with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, etc.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments, as also in that of Antiquities, natural and artificial curiosities, and the like. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries and Apparatus.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The libraries of the three Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains	5318 vols.
The Phrenakosmian “	4200 “
The Philomathæan “	3882 “
The Linnæan “	100 “
The Education Society “	250 “
The German Society “	250 “
	14,000

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent Scholarship in the institution may be obtained by the payment of four hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as by individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster and Hon. E. McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

The Freshman Prize-Fund.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating, and all the students are required to be present.

The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship.

They are also required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the institution.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and traveling expenses will be, when the contemplated change in the sessions is fully introduced, as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $2 per week, ...	$26 00
Tuition, ...	12 00
Room rent, etc.,.....	3 00
Washing, ...	3 00
	$44 00

Total for the Collegiate year, ...$132 00

Fuel and lights,..... 7 00

Boarding may also be procured for $1.50 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the students. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement, according to a recent act of the Board of Trustees, will, after the present year, be held on the second Thursday of August. The first term of the Collegiate year will then begin six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continue thirteen weeks; the second will begin three weeks from the close of the first term, and continue thirteen weeks; the third will begin four weeks from the close of the second, and continue thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year will thus be divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks' continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks will be devoted to the vacations. THIS YEAR, however, there will be a vacation of only four weeks from Commencement, in order that the proposed change may be gradually introduced. The duties of the approaching Winter session will, therefore, be resumed on the 17th of October, and continue till the 10th of April, with a recess at Christmas, of two weeks.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement this year takes place on the third Thursday of September. The Baccalaureate Discourse will be delivered, the Sunday preceding, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior Class occur on Wednesday morning; on the afternoon of the same day there will be an address before the Phrenakosmian Society by JOHN S. HART, LL. D., of Philadelphia. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon REV. DANIEL GARVER, of Canton, Ohio.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshmen Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Cicero's Orations, Livy, Odes of Horace, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's), Classical Antiquities, Xenophon's Anabasis, Cyropædia, Life of Agesilaus, Greek Grammar (Sophocles'), Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's), Ancient Geography (Schmidt's), German Grammar (Eichhorn's), and Heydenreich's Reader, Algebra (Loomis'), Geometry (Loomis'), Universal History (Weber's), Rhetoric (Coppée's), English Literature (Cleveland's), Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

Horace, Cicero de Officiis, Cicero de Senectute and de Amicitia, or the Tusculan Disputations, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Felton's Greek Historians, Xenophon's Memorabilia, or Plato's Apology and Crito, Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Classical Literature (Browne's), German, Eichhorn and Reader continued, Solid and Spherical Geometry (Loomis'), Conic Sections (Loomis'), Analytical Plane and Spherical Trigonometry (Loomis'), Mensuration (Loomis'), Surveying (Loomis'), Analytical Geometry and Calculus (Loomis'), Mechanical Philosophy (Silliman's), Optics (Silliman's), Outlines of History (Weber's) continued, Trench on Words, Rhetoric (Blair's), Composition and Declamation.

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Satires, Epistles and Ars Poetica of Horace, Cicero de Oratore or Cicero de Natura Deorum, Latin Prose Composition, The Iliad or Odyssey of Homer, Prometheus of Æschylus, or the Alcestitis of Euripides, German, Heyse's Grammar, Selections from Schiller, and Translations from English Authors, Lectures on Chemistry with Experiments, Mineralogy (Dana's), Botany (Wood's), Lectures on Meteorology, Elements of Criticism (Kames'), History of Civilization, (Guizot's), Rhetoric (Blair's) continued, Mental Philosophy (Haven's), Logic (Coppée's), Physiology (Hooker's), Composition and Declamation, Forensic Disputations.

SENIOR CLASS.

Tacitus' Histories, or the Agricola and Germania, Juvenal's Satires, Plautus or Terence, Latin Composition, Phædo of Plato, Demosthenes or Æschines on the Crown, The Antigone or Electra of Sophocles, Greek Composition, German Composition, Maria Stuart or Wilhelm Tell, German Translations and Conversational Exercises, Astronomy (Robinson's), Geology, (Hitchcock's), Keith on the Globes, Political Economy (Wayland's with Lectures), Constitution of the United States (Sheppard's), Butler's Analogy, Moral Philosophy (Wayland's), Natural Theology (Paley's), Evidences of Christianity, (Paley's), Forensic Disputations, Revision of the Course.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following includes the list of studies :

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the Definition of Words, English Grammar (Parker's), Arithmetic (Loomis'), Book-keeping (Shea's), Modern Geography (McNally's), Ancient Geography (Mitchell's), History of the United States and Great Britain (Goodrich's Series), Algebra (Loomis'), Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader (Jacobs' and Owen's), Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Caesar, Nepos, Virgil, and Sallust.

Students sufficiently advanced in this department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

The German Language.

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the students with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, etc.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the three Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains	5600 vols.
The Phrenakosmian “	4400 “
The Philomathæan “	4200 “
The Linnæan “	100 “
The German Society “	250 “
14,550

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of four hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as by individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster and Hon. E. McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

The Freshman Prize-Fund.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the institution.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and travelling expenses are as follows:

Board, 13 weeks, at $2 per week, ...	$26 00
Tuition, ...	12 00
Room rent, etc., ...	3 00
Washing, ...	3 00
Fuel and Light, ...	2 00
	$46 00

Total for the Collegiate year, ...$138 00

Boarding in clubs may be procured for $1 30 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the students. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks from the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks from the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks' continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Baccalaureate Discourse is delivered, the Sunday preceding the day of the Annual Commencement by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior Class occur on Wednesday morning; on the afternoon of the same day there will be an address before the Philomathæan Society by Hon. JAMES POLLOCK, LL. D., of Philadelphia. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon Hon. JOHN E. SMITH Westminster, Md.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Cicero's Orations, Livy, Odes of Horace, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's), Classical Antiquities, Xenophon's Anabasis, Cyropædia, Life of Agesilaus, Greek Grammar (Sophocles'), Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's), Ancient Geography (Schmidt's), German Grammar (Eichhorn's), and Heydenreich's Reader, Algebra (Loomis'), Geometry (Loomis'), Universal History (Weber's), Rhetoric (Coppée's), English Literature (Cleveland's), Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department, which is under the supervision of the College Faculty, embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following scheme gives a general view of the studies, pursued in this Department:

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the Definition of Words, English Grammar (Parker's), Arithmetic (Loomis'), Book-keeping (Shea's), Modern Geography (McNally's), Ancient Geography (Mitchell's), History of the United States and Great Britain (Goodrich's Series), Algebra (Loomis'), Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader (Jacobs' and Owen's), Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil, and Sallust.

Students sufficiently advanced in this Department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

The German Language.

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the student with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, etc.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the three Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains	5600 vols.
The Phrenakosmian “	4400 “
The Philomathæan “	4200 “
The Linnæan “	100 “
The German Society “	250 “
14,550

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies, to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of four hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as by individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. E. McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given, at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Charles W. Hassler, of the United States Navy, has offered a Gold Medal of the value of twenty dollars, to be awarded to that student of the Junior Class, who shall exhibit the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language, prior to the Annual Commencement of 1863.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and travelling expenses are as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $2 per week, ...	$26 00
Tuition, ...	12 00
Room rent, etc., ...	3 00
Washing, ...	3 00
Fuel and light, ...	2 00
	$46 00

Total for the Collegiate year,.....$138 00

Boarding in clubs may be procured for $1 30 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the students. In incidental expenses, if the parent and guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, désirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Terms and Vacations

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks from the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks from the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks' continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Baccalaureate Discourse is delivered, the Sunday preceding the day of the Annual Commencement, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior Class occur on Wednesday morning; on the afternoon of the same day there is an Address before the Literary Societies of the College. This year the Rev. W. B. SPRAGUE, D. D., of Albany, N. Y., has been selected to deliver the Address before the Phrenakosmian Society. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an Address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon GEORGE C. MAUND, Esq., Baltimore, Md.

In consequence of the great and sanguinary battles, fought, on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of July last, in and around the borough of Gettysburg, between the invading Rebel army, under General Lee, and the Union army, under General Meade, the College edifice was used, by Government, for four weeks, as a hospital for the wounded after the defeat and repulse of the enemy. A thorough cleansing, and a considerable amount of repairs having been rendered necessary, it was thought inexpedient to attempt to hold the ordinary public Exercises of the Commencement this year. This work will, however, be done as soon as possible, so that the building will be ready for the return of the students at the beginning of the Fall Session, September 24th.

It is but due to the patriotism of the students of this Institution to state, as a matter of history, that immediately upon the reception of the call of the Governor for Volunteers to defend the State, and repel the invaders from our soil, a company consisting chiefly of sixty College students, under the command of Capt. Klinefelter, were the first to reach Harrisburg, June 17th, and to be mustered into the service for the "Emergency."

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Caesar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

FRESHMAN CLASS

Cicero's Orations, Livy, Odes of Horace, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's), Classical Antiquities, Xenophon's Anabasis, Cyropædia, Life of Agamemnon, Greek Grammar (Sophocles'), Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's), Ancient Geography (Schmidt's), German Grammar (Eichhorn's), and Heydenreich's Reader, Algebra (Loomis'), Geometry (Loomis'). Universal History (Weber's), Rhetoric (Coppee's), English Literature (Cleveland's), Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

Horace, Cicero de Officiis, Cicero de Senectute and de Amicitia, or the Tusculan Disputations, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Felton's Greek Historians, Xenophon's Memorabilia, or Plato's Apology and Crito, Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Classical Literature (Browne's), German, Eichhorn and Reader continued, Solid and Spherical Geometry (Loomis'), Conic Sections (Loomis'), Analytical Plane and Spherical Trigonometry (Loomis'), Mensuration (Loomis'), Surveying (Loomis'), Analytical Geometry and Calculus (Loomis'), Mechanical Philosophy (Silliman's), Optics (Silliman's), Outlines of History (Weber's) continued, Trench on Words, Rhetoric (Blair's), Composition and Declamation.

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Satires, Epistles and Ars Poetica of Horace, Cicero de Oratore or Cicero de Natura Deorum, Latin Prose Composition, The Iliad or Odyssey of Homer, Prometheus of Æschylus, or the Alcestis of Euripides, German, Heyse's Grammar, Selections from Schiller, and Translations from English Authors, Lectures on Chemistry with Experiments, Mineralogy (Dana's), Botany (Wood's), Lectures on Meteorology, Elements of Criticism (Kames'), History of Civilization (Guizot's), Rhetoric (Blair's) continued, Mental Philosophy (Haven's), Logic (Coppee's), Physiology (Hooker's), Composition and Declamation, Forensic Disputations.

SENIOR CLASS.

Tacitus' Histories, or the Agricola and Germania, Juvenal's Satires, Plautus or Terence, Latin Composition, Phædo of Plato, Demosthenes or Æschines on the Crown, The Antigone or Electra of Sophocles, Greek Composition, German Composition. Maria Stuart or Wilhelm Tell, German Translations and Conversational Exercises, Astronomy (Robinson's), Geology (Hitchcock's), Keith on the Globes, Political Economy (Wayland's with Lectures), Constitution of the United States (Sheppard's), Butler's Analogy, Moral Philosophy (Wayland's), Natural Philosophy (Paley's), Evidences of Christianity, (Paley's), Forensic Disputations, Revision of the Course.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department, which is under the supervision of the College Faculty, embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities and application.

The following scheme gives a general view of the studies, pursued in this Department:

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the Definition of Words, English Grammar (Parker's), Arithmetic (Loomis'), Book-keeping (Shea's), Modern Geography (McNally's), Ancient Geography (Mitchell's), History of the United States and Great Britain (Goodrich's Series), Algebra (Loomis'), Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader (Jacobs' and Owen's), Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil, and Sallust.

Students sufficiently advanced in this Department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

The German Language.

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the student with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition Debates, Declamation, etc.) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however, conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the three Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains.....	5,600	vols.
The Phrenakosmian “ 	4,600	“
The Philomathæan “ 	4,300	“
The Linnæan “ 	100	“
The German Society “ 	250	“
	14,850

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies, to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of four hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as by individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. E. McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given, at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and travelling expenses are as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $2 50 per week,.....	$32 50
Tuition,.....	12 00
Room rent, etc.,.....	3 00
Washing, ...	4 00
Fuel and light,.....	3 00
	$54 50

Total for the Collegiate year,.....$163 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $1 30 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the students. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks from the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks from the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks' continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Baccalaureate Discourse is delivered, the Sunday preceding the day of the Annual Commencement, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior Class occur on Wednesday morning; on the afternoon of the same day there is an Address before the Literary Societies of the College. This year, the Rev. Roswell C. Hitchcock, D. D., has been selected to deliver the regular Annual Address before the Philomathæan Society, and the Rev. Wm. B. Sprague, D. D., will also deliver the one prepared for last year, before the Phrenakosmian Society. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an Address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon George C. Maund, Esq., Baltimore, Md.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Cicero's Orations, Livy, Odes of Horace, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's), Classical Antiquities, Xenophon's Anabasis, Cyropædia, Life of Agesilaus, Greek Grammar (Sophocles'), Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's), Ancient Geography (Schmidt's), German Grammar (Eichhorn's), and Heydenreich's Reader, Algebra (Loomis'), Geometry (Loomis'), Universal History (Weber's), Rhetoric (Coppee's), English Literature (Cleveland's), Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

Horace, Cicero de Officiis, Cicero de Senectute and de Amicitia, or the Tusculan Disputations, Latin Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Felton's Greek Historians, Xenophon's Memorabilia, or Plato's Apology and Crito, Greek Prose Composition (Arnold's) continued, Classical Literature (Brown's), German, Eichhorn and Reader continued, Solid and Spherical Geometry (Loomis'), Conic Sections (Loomis'), Analytical Plane and Spherical Trigonometry (Loomis'), Mensuration (Loomis'), Surveying (Loomis'), Analytical Geometry and Calculus (Loomis'), Mechanical Philosophy (Silliman's), Optics (Silliman's), Outlines of History (Weber's) continued, Trench on Words, Rhetoric (Blair's), Composition and Declamation.

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Satires, Epistles and Ars Poetica of Horace, Cicero de Oratore or Cicero de Natura Deorum, Latin Prose Composition, The Iliad or Odyssey of Homer, Prometheus of Æschylus, or the Alcestis of Euripides, German, Heyse's Grammar, Selections from Schiller, and Translations from English Authors, Lectures on Chemistry with Experiments, Mineralogy (Dana's), Botany (Wood's), Lectures on Meteorology, Elements of Criticism (Kames'), History of Civilization (Guizot's), Rhetoric (Blair's) continued, Mental Philosophy (Haven's), Logic (Coppee's), Physiology (Hooker's), Composition and Declamation, Forensic Disputations.

SENIOR CLASS.

Tacitus' Histories, or the Agricola and Germania, Juvenal's Satires, Plautus or Terence, Latin Composition, Phædo of Plato, Demosthenes or Æschines on the Crown, The Antigone or Electra of Sophocles, Greek Composition, German Composition, Maria Stuart or Wilhelm Tell, German Translations and Conversational Exercises, Astronomy (Robinson's), Geology (Hitchcock's), Keith on the Globes, Political Economy (Wayland's with Lectures), Constitution of the United States (Sheppard's), Butler's Analogy, Moral Philosophy (Wayland's), Natural Philosophy (Paley's), Evidences of Christianity (Paley's), Forensic Disputations, Revision of the Course.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department, which is under the supervision of the College Faculty, embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities and application.

The following scheme gives a general view of the studies, pursued in this Department :

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the Definition of Words, English Grammar (Parker's), Arithmetic (Loomis'), Book-keeping (Shea's), Modern Geography (McNally's), Ancient Geography (Mitchell's), History of the United States and Great Britain (Goodrich's Series), Algebra (Loomis'), Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar (Adam's and Sophocles'), Latin and Greek Reader (Jacobs' and Owen's), Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil, and Sallust.

Students sufficiently advanced in this Department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as German, Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

The German Language.

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the student with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the student during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Nasural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains.....	5,700 vols.
The Phrenakosmian “	5,100 “
The Philomathæan “	4,456 “
The Linnæan “	100 “
The German Society “	250 “
15,606

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies, to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as by individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given, at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College Church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and travelling expenses, are as follows:

Board, 13 weeks, at $2 50 per week,.....	$32 56
Tuition,.....	12 00
Room rent, etc.,.....	3 00
Washing,.....	4 00
Fuel and light,.....	3 00
	$54 50
Total for the Collegiate year,.....	$163 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $1 30 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the student. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, desirous of doing so, can entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks from the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks from the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks' continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Baccalaureate Discourse is delivered, the Sunday preceding the day of the Annual Commencement, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior Class occur on Wednesday morning; on the afternoon of the same day there is an Address before the Literary Societies of the College. This year, the Rev. William B. Sprague, D. D., of Albany, N. Y., has been selected to deliver the regular Annual Address before the Phrenakosmian Society, and the Rev. Roswell C. Hitchcock, D. D., of New York, will also deliver the one prepared for last year, before the Philomathæan Society. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an Address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon Rev. Milton Valentine, of Reading, Pa.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Adam's Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

INSTRUCTION AND SUPERVISION.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

Department of Physical Science.

During the past scholastic year the efficiency of this department of the College has been greatly increased by the addition of a complete collection of Philosophical Apparatus. These instruments have been specially constructed to bring before the students all the fundamentally important phenomena of Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, and thus cause Nature, as far as possible, to take the place of instructor, and give her own teachings in her own language. All the recent developments in reference to the correlation of the physical forces are thus experimentally illustrated and indelibly impressed upon the mind of the student.

A superior Telescope has recently come into possession of the College, and will soon be mounted and ready for the use of the students in Astronomy. This Telescope was made by Merz & Son, Opticians, of Munich, in Germany. It is an achromatic refractor of over nine feet focal length, with an object glass of six-and-a-half inches aperture. It is furnished with five magnifying powers, varying from eighty-five to four hundred and sixty times; with a complete set of sun glasses, a prismatic reflector, an annular micrometer, and a terrestrial eye-piece. The instrument has two divided circles, for reading off angles, of nine-and-a-half inches in diameter, finely graduated on silver to minutes of arc, and furnished with two verniers and microscopes which read to four seconds each. The whole instrument, although very heavy, is so beautifully balanced on its centre of gravity that the slightest touch will move it readily; and when it is adjusted to a celestial object, a clock, attached to the Telescope, moves the tube of the instrument so that it follows the apparent motion of the heavenly body, and thus the object observed is always kept in the field of view without requiring any further handling on the part of the observer.

This Telescope has already done good work in astronomical science, and has been pronounced, by the first astronomers in the country, to be a perfect instrument.

At the last meeting of the Board of Trustees the celebrated collection of minerals owned by Mr. Seymour, of New York, was purchased for the College. This large cabinet, the result of thirty years collection, is peculiarly rich in crystallographic forms and will give a peculiar facility in teaching this important practical branch of science.

The instruction in this department of the College is given through the study of the best text books, combined with attendance on lectures, illustrated with all that is recent and important in Physical Science.

The German Language.

A Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the student with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the student during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains.....	5,800 vols.
The Phrenakosmian “	5,100 “
The Philomathæan “	4,456 “
The Linnæan “	100 “
The German Society “	250 “

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies, to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as by individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given, at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is to be expended annually for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to that student of the Junior Class who shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language at the examination of the Class preceding the Annual Commencement.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College Church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and travelling expenses, are as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $3 50 per week,.....	$45 50
Tuition,.....	12 00
Room rent, etc.,.....	3 00
Washing,.....	4 00
Fuel and light,.....	3 00
	$67 50
Total for the Collegiate year,.....	$202 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $1 80 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the student. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, desirous of doing so, can intrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

THE Preparatory Department has been reorganized by the appointment of a Principal, who devotes his exclusive attention to this Department. The course of study has been revised, and embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the elements of the Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of the Sciences. New series of Text-Books, in most branches, have been introduced. The aim is to make the instruction thorough and practical, and adapted to the wants of those receiving it. Students, who wish to take a full collegiate course, will receive a thorough classical training; those who are preparing for business, in addition to other instruction, will have the privilege of instruction in Practical Accounts, Business Forms, Book-Keeping, &c.; those who propose to enter upon mechanical pursuits, will have the opportunity of acquiring the elements of Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, &c.; whilst those who are preparing themselves for the profession of teaching, will have every facility for perfecting themselves in those branches, deemed important in their calling.

There are four grades in the Department, and students on entering the Institution will be admitted to that grade, for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

FOURTH, OR LOWEST, GRADE.

The National Speller, (Parker and Watson). The Juvenile Definer, (Smith). The National Third Reader, (Parker and Watson). The New Primary Geography, (Mitchell). The Progressive Intellectual, and The Rudiments of Written Arithmetic, (Robinson). First Book in Grammar, (Quackenbos). Penmanship, (Potter and Hammond). Drawing, Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

THIRD GRADE.

The National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson). The Grammar School Speller and Definer, (Smith). The Writing Speller, (Sherwood). The National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson). The New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton). The Progressive Intellectual, and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson). English Grammar, (Quackenbos). Primary History of the United States, (Quackenbos). First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos). Penmanship, Drawing, Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

SECOND GRADE.

Spelling and defining, (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary). Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader). Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell). The Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics, (Robinson). New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson). English Grammar, (Quackenbos). History of the United States, (Quackenbos). Biblical Antiquities, (Nevin). Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar, (Harkness). Latin Reader, (Harkness). First Greek Book, (Harkness).

FIRST GRADE—PRIMARIAN CLASS.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell). Comprehensive English Grammar, (Kerl). Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robinson). New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson). Composition and Rhetoric, (Quackenbos). History of England, (Goodrich). Biblical Antiquities, (Nevin). Watts on the Mind, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar; Caesar, Virgil and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

Students, sufficiently advanced in this Department, are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes, in any of the branches they may desire, for which no additional charge is made.

It is contemplated, at an early day, to erect a new building for the exclusive use of the Preparatory Department. Until this building is erected, the older students of this Department are provided with rooms in the College Building. The Principal, who resides near the College, will receive into his family a limited number of the younger pupils, for whom temporary provision has been made by the Board of Trustees, in the erection of an addition to his residence.

The Tuition is the same as in the College. Students residing with the Principal will be charged at the rate of sixty-five dollars per Session for boarding, washing, light, fuel, furniture, rooms and attention; the one-half to be paid in advance, the balance at the middle of the session. A deduction of five dollars will be made for the Summer Session. Each student is expected to bring with him towels, sheets, pillow-cases and a quilt, or its equivalent. The Terms and Vacations are the same as in the College Department

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks from the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks from the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks' continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Baccalaureate Discourse is delivered, the Sunday preceding the day of the Annual Commencement, by the President of the Institution. The annual exercises of the Junior Class occur on Wednesday morning; on the afternoon of the same day there is an Address before the Literary Societies of the College. This year the Rev. T. L. Cuyler, D. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been selected to deliver the regular Annual Address before the Philomathæan Society. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an Address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon Rev. Victor L. Conrad, of New York.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Loomis' Elementary Algebra.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students, imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

During the past scholastic year the efficiency of this department of the College has been greatly increased, by the addition of a complete collection of Philosophical Apparatus. These instruments have been specially constructed to bring before the students all the fundamentally important phenomena of Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, and thus cause Nature, as far as possible, to take the place of instructor, and give her own teachings in her own language. All the recent developments in reference to the correlation of the physical forces are thus experimentally illustrated and indelibly impressed upon the mind of the student.

A superior Telescope has recently come into possession of the College, and will soon be mounted and ready for the use of the students in Astronomy. This Telescope was made by Merz & Son, Opticians, of Munich, in Germany. In it an achromatic refractor of over nine feet focal length, with an object glass of six-and-a-half inches aperture. It is furnished with five magnifying powers, varying from eighty-five to four hundred and sixty times; with a complete set of sun glasses, a prismatic reflector, an annular micrometer, and a terrestrial eye-piece. The instrument has two divided circles, for reading off angles, of nine-and-a-half inches in diameter, finely graduated on silver to minutes of arc, and furnished with two verniers and microscopes which read to four seconds each.

This Telescope has already done good work in astronomical science, and has been pronounced, by the first astronomers in the country, to be a perfect instrument.

At the last meeting of the board of Trustees, the celebrated collection of minerals owned by Mr. Seymour, of New York, was purchased for the College. This large cabinet, the result of thirty years collection, is peculiarly rich in crystallographic forms and will give a peculiar facility in teaching this important practical branch of science.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

A Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the student with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instruction is now given to the classes in this department as a part of the regular College course. In addition to the use of the text-books mentioned in the foregoing course of instruction, written exercises are prepared by the student during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

LINNÆAN SOCIETY.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and by making collections of specimens in these departments. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, upon compliance with such laws as the Societies respectively enact.

The College Library contains	- - - - -	5,900 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	" - - - - -	5,230 "
The Philomathæan	" - - - - -	4,800 "
The Linnæan	" - - - - -	100 "

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a public examination during each College term. A faithful record of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, and of his conduct and attendance, is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination upon the studies, to which his class has been attending during his absence.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which perpetually secures to the holder of the certificate the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

PREMIUMS.

A friend of the College has given the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, for the purpose of securing high scholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of the fund is given, at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class who shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language at the examination of the Class preceding the Annual Commencement.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional exercises are daily held in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College Church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture and travelling expenses, are as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $3 50 per week, . . .	$45 50
Tuition, ...	12 00
Room Rent, etc., ...	3 00
Washing, ...	4 00
Fuel and light, ...	3 00
	$67 50

Total for the Collegiate year, . . . $202 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $1 80 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the student. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons, desirous of doing so, can intrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks from the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks from the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, each of thirteen weeks continuance. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Preparatory Department.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the elements of the Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of the Sciences. The aim is to make the instruction clear and practical, and adapted to the wants of those receiving it. Students, who wish to take a full collegiate course, will receive a thorough classical training; those who are preparing for business, in addition to other instruction, will have the privilege of instruction, in Practical Accounts, Business Forms, Book-Keeping, &c.; those who propose to enter upon mechanical pursuits, will have the opportunity of acquiring the elements of Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, &c.; whilst those who are preparing themselves for the profession of teaching, will have every facility for perfecting themselves in those branches, deemed important in their calling.

There are three grades in the Department, and students on entering the Institution will be admitted to that grade, for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

THIRD GRADE.

The National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson.) The Juvenile Definer, (Smith.) The Writing Speller, (Sherwood.) The National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson.) The New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton.) The Progressive Intellectual and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Keil.) Primary History of the United States, (Goodrich.) First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos.) Penmanship, Drawing, Vocal Music, and exercises in Composition and Declamation.

SECOND GRADE.

Spelling and defining. (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary.) Elocution and Literature. (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader.) Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas. (Mitchell.) The Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics. (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra. (Robinson.) English Grammer. (Keil.) History of the United States. (Goodrich.) Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar. (Harkness.) Latin Reader. (Harkness.) First Greek Book. (Harkness.)

FIRST GRADE—PRIMARIAN CLASS.

Ancient Geography. (Mitchell.) Comprehensive English Grammar. (Kerl.) Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples. (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra. (Robinson.) Composition and Rhetoric. (Quackenbos.) History of England. (Goodrich.) Biblical Antiquities. (Nevin.) Watts on the Mind, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar; Caesar, Virgil and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

Students, sufficiently advanced in this Department, are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes, in any of the branches they may desire, for which no additional charge is made.

A new building for the exclusive use of the Preparatory students has been put under contract, and will be speedily erected. For the present, the older students of this Department are provided with rooms in the College Building. The Principal, who resides near the College, will receive into his family a limited number of the younger pupils, for whom temporary provision has been made by the Board of Trustees, in the erection of an addition to his residence.

The Tuition is the same as in the College. Students residing with the Principal will be charged at the rate of sixty five dollars per Session for boarding, washing, light, fuel, furniture, rooms and attention; the one-half to be paid in advance, the balance at the middle of the session. A deduction of five dollars will be made for the Summer Session. Each student is expected to bring with him towels, sheets, pillow-cases and a quilt, or its equivalent. The Terms and Vacations are the same as in the College Department.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination in Caesar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Robinson's Elementary Algebra, and one book of Geometry.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

INSTRUCTION AND SUPERVISION.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, in developing the minds of the pupils.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this, the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

This department is furnished with an extensive collection of Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, to demonstrate by experiments the principles and phenomena of Natural Science.

A superior Telescope has been secured for the College, which, it is hoped, will soon be mounted for the use of students in Astronomy. It was manufactured by Mertz & Son, celebrated Opticians of Munich, in Germany, and has already rendered good service in Astronomical Science.

The Museum of the Linnæan Association contains a large collection of minerals, fossils, shells, birds, reptiles, and other animals, to illustrate the several branches of Natural Science; and also a great variety of rare curiosities and relics from all parts of the world. To these, additions are constantly made by the Trustees and friends of the Institution.

The celebrated cabinet of minerals of Mr. Seymour, of New York, has recently been added to the Museum of the College. This extensive collection, the result of thirty years' industry, contains many of the finest and rarest specimens of minerals in crystalline form to be found in this country.

A course of Lectures on Natural History will be delivered, during the Summer Session, by Rev. Dr. Jno. G. Morris, of Baltimore, whose attainments in this department of Science are well known, and to whose interest and labors in past years, the Linnæan Association is largely indebted for its present extensive Museum.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the Language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

A German Society has also been organized by the students, designed to cultivate a facility in the use of this Language.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon, during which regular recitations are omitted.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	.	.	.	.	6,000 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	.	.	.	5,353 "

The Linnæan	"	.	.	.	100 "
The German Society	"	.	.	.	250 "
Total,	.	.	.	.	16,553

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a public examination during each College term. A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

A permanent scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which secures to the holder perpetually the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and successful pupil who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

PREMIUMS.

A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given, at the close of the year, to that member of the Freshman Class, who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class who shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language at the examination of the Class preceding the Annual Commencement.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, one of the Faculty officiating. The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College Church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying some other congregation with which they wish them to worship. They are likewise required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows:

Board, 13 weeks, at $3 50 per week,	. . . $45 50
Tuition, ...	13 00
Room Rent, etc., ...	3 00
Washing, ...	4 00
Fuel and Light, ...	5 00
	$70 50

Total for the Collegiate year, ... $211 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2 00 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

The expenses will vary according to circumstances and the character and habits of the student. In incidental expenses, if the parent or guardian furnish the means, or authorize the contracting of debts, an individual may be very extravagant.

Persons desirous of doing so, can intrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is held on the second Thursday of August. The first term begins six weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues thirteen weeks; the second begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues thirteen weeks; the third begins four weeks after the close of the second, and continues thirteen weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of thirteen weeks each. The intervening periods of six, three and four weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass them during the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will also receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students, on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

THIRD GRADE.

National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson.) Juvenile Definer, (Smith.) The Writing Speller, (Sherwood.) National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson.) New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton.) Progressive Intellectual and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Kerl.) Primary History of the United States, (Goodrich.) First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos.) Penmanship, Drawing, Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

SECOND GRADE.

Spelling and Defining, (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary.) Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader.) Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell.) Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Kerl.) History of the United States, (Goodrich.) Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar, (Harkness.) Latin Reader, (Harkness.) First Greek Book, (Harkness.)

FIRST GRADE—PRIMARIAN CLASS.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell.) Comprehensive English Grammar, (Kerl.) Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) Composition and Rhetoric, (Quackenbos.) History of England, (Goodrich.) Biblical Antiquities, (Nevin.) Watts on the Mind, Vocal Music. Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar; Caesar, Virgil and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

The new building for the Preparatory Department will be ready for the reception of pupils by the commencement of the Fall Session. The students of this department from abroad, will be required to room in the building and to board with the Principal, or under his direction, and only in special cases will permission be given by the Faculty to room and board elsewhere. The rooms and dormitories will be provided with all necessary furniture, excepting towels and toilet articles, which students are expected to furnish for themselves. The tuition and room-rent will be the same as in college proper. The sessions and vacations are also the same as in college. Students who wish to economize will be allowed to form a boarding association for that purpose.

The expenses in this department will vary from $68 to $88 per session, dependent upon the place of boarding, and upon the student's occupying private rooms, or apartments in common with others under the supervision of his Instructors.

Expenses, exclusive of books and stationery:—

Board, 13 weeks, at $3 50 per week, ...	$45 50
Tuition, per session, ...	13 00
Room Rent, per session, ...	$3 00 to 5 00
Washing, " "	4 00
Light and Fuel, per session, ...	$5 00 to 8 00
Use of furniture, attention to rooms, &c., ...	10 00 to 12 50

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with one half of the other expenses, must be paid in advance—the balance at the middle of the session.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination in Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Robinson's Elementary Algebra, and one book of Geometry.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, in developing the minds of the pupils.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

This department is furnished with an extensive collection of Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, to demonstrate by experiments the principles and phenomena of Natural Science.

A superior Telescope has been secured for the College, which, it is hoped, will soon be mounted for the use of students in Astronomy. It was manufactured by Mertz & Son, celebrated Opticians of Munich, in Germany, and has already rendered good service in Astronomical Science.

The Museum of the Linnæan Association contains a large collection of minerals, fossils, shells, birds, reptiles, and other animals, to illustrate the several branches of Natural Science; and also a great variety of rare curiosities and relics from all parts of the world. To these, additions are constantly made by the Trustees and friends of the Institution.

The celebrated cabinet of minerals of Mr. Seymour, of New York, has recently been added to the Museum of the College. This extensive collection, the result of thirty years' industry, contains many of the finest and rarest specimens of minerals in crystalline form to be found in this country.

A course of Lectures on Natural History will be delivered, during the Summer Session, by Rev. Dr. Jno. G. Morris, of Baltimore, whose attainments in this department of Science are well known, and to whose interest and labors in past years, the Linnæan Association is largely indebted for its present extensive Museum.

The German Language.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the Language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

A German Society has also been organized by the students, designed to cultivate a facility in the use of this Language.

Literary Societies.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	.	.	.	.	6,150 vols.

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which secures to the holder perpetually the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given, at the close of the year, to that member of the Freshman Class, who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class who shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language, at the examination of the Class preceding the Annual Commencement.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are about as follows:

Board, 13 weeks, at $3 50 per week, . . .	$45 50
Tuition, ...	13 00
Room Rent, etc., ...	3 00
Washing, ...	4 00
Fuel and Light, ...	5 00
	$70 50

Total for the Collegiate year, ... $211 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

The Tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

Parents or Guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be requested.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three and nine weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

Third Grade.

National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson.) Juvenile Definer, (Smith.) The Writing Speller, (Sherwood.) National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson.) New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton.) Progressive Intellectual, and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler's.) Primary History of the United States, (Goodrich.) First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos.) Penmanship, Drawing, (Bartholomew's.) Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

Second Grade.

Spelling and Defining, (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary.) Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader.) Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas,

(Mitchell.) Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler.) History of the United States, (Goodrich.) Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar, (Harkness.) Latin Reader, (Harkness.) First Greek Book, (Harkness.)

First Grade—Primarian Class.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell.) Comprehensive English Grammar, (Fowler.) Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) Composition and Rhetoric, (Quackenbos.) Natural Philosophy, (Peck's Ganot.) Biblical Antiquities, (Nevin.) Watts on the Mind, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar, and Introduction to Latin Composition; Cæsar, Virgil and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

Instruction in Vocal and Instrumental Music is provided for those desiring it.

Instruction and Supervision.

A large and commodious edifice is in course of erection for the exclusive use of this Department. The main building has been completed, and is already occupied. The general administration is the same as that of College proper, whilst the Principal and Tutors have special care of the preparatory School. The older and more diligent students are allowed the use of private rooms; all not thus provided will study in common under the supervision of one of the Tutors. The rooms and dormitories are neatly and comfortably furnished. Students are, however, expected to provide their own toilet articles and towels. Those who wish to economize will be allowed to form themselves into a Boarding Association for that purpose; all others will be required to board with the Steward, at whose table the Principal presides.

Expenses.

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with the Terms and Vacations, are the same as in College proper. Expenses will vary from $60 to $90 per term, dependent upon the place of boarding; upon the student's occupying private rooms, or apartments in common, under supervision of his Instructors; and upon the length of the Term.

In the following table the lowest amounts give (approximately) the lowest rates for the short Terms, and the highest amounts give the highest rates for the long Term.

Tuition, per Term,		$12.00 to $15.00
Room-rent,		3.00 " 5.00
Washing,		3.75 " 4.75
Light and Fuel,		2.50 " 7.00
Use of Furniture,		3.00 " 5.00
Board, per week, with Steward,		3.25
" " " Club rates,		2.85
Music on Piano, per Term,		10.00
Use of Instrument,		3.00

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with one-half of the other expenses, must be paid in advance, the balance at the middle of the Term.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination in Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Robinson's Elementary Algebra, and one book of Geometry.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials, of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, in developing the minds of the pupils.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

This department is furnished with an extensive collection of Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, to demonstrate by experiments the principles and phenomena of Natural Science.

A superior Telescope has been secured for the College, which, it is hoped, will soon be mounted for the use of students in Astronomy. It was manufactured by Mertz & Son, celebrated Opticians of Munich, in Germany, and has already rendered good service in Astronomical Science.

The Museum of the Linnæan Association contains a large collection of minerals, fossils, shells, birds, reptiles, and other animals, to illustrate the several branches of Natural Science; and also a great variety of rare curiosities and relics from all parts of the world. To these, additions are constantly made by the Trustees and friends of the Institution.

The celebrated cabinet of minerals of Mr. Seymour, of New York, has recently been added to the Museum of the College. This extensive collection, the result of thirty years' industry, contains many of the finest and rarest specimens of minerals in crystalline form to be found in this country.

A course of Lectures on Natural History will be delivered, during the Summer Session, by Rev. Dr. Jno. G. Morris, of Baltimore, whose attainments in this department of Science are well known, and to whose interest and labors in past years, the Linnæan Association is largely indebted for its present extensive Museum.

The German Language.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the Language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

A German Society has also been organized by the students, designed to cultivate a facility in the use of this Language.

Literary Societies.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	.	.	.	.	6,300 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	.	.	.	5,500 "
The Philomathæan	"	.	.	.	5,300 "
The Linnæan	"	.	.	.	100 "
The German Society	"	.	.	.	250 "
Total,	.	.	.	.	17,450

Examinations.

There is a public examination during each College term. A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which secures to the holder perpetually the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given, at the close of the year, to that member of the Freshman Class, who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class who shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language, at the examination of the Class preceding the Annual Commencement.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are about as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $3 50 per week,	. . . $45 50
Tuition, ...	13 00
Room Rents, etc., ...	3 00
Washing, ...	4 00
Fuel and Light, ...	5 00
	$70 50

Total for the Collegiate year, ... $211 50

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

The Tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

Parents or Guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be required.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three and nine weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

Course of Study.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

Third Grade.

National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson.) Juvenile Definer, (Smith.) The Writing Speller, (Sherwood.) National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson.) New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton.) Progressive Intellectual, and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler's.) Primary History of the United States, (Goodrich.) First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos.) Penmanship, Drawing, (Bartholomew's.) Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

Second Grade.

Spelling and Defining, (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary.) Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader.) Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell.) Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler.) History of the United States, (Goodrich.) Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar, (Harkness.) Latin Reader, (Harkness.) First Greek Book, (Harkness.)

First Grade—Primarian Class.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell.) Comprehensive English Grammar, (Fowler.) Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) Composition and Rhetoric, (Quackenbos.) Natural Philosophy, (Peck's Ganot.) Biblical Antiquities, (Nevin.) Watts on the Mind, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar, and Introduction to Latin Composition; Cæsar, Virgil and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

Instruction in Vocal and Instrumental Music is provided for those desiring it.

Instruction and Supervision.

A large and commodious edifice has been erected for the exclusive use of this Department. The general administration is the same as that of College proper, whilst the Principal and Tutors have special care of the preparatory School. The older and more diligent students are allowed the use of private rooms; all not thus provided will study in common under the supervision of one of the Tutors. The rooms and dormitories are neatly and comfortably furnished. Students are, however, expected to provide their own toilet articles and towels. Those who wish to economize will be allowed to form themselves into a Boarding Association for that purpose; all others will be required to board with the Steward, at whose table the Principal presides.

Expenses.

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with the Terms and Vacations, are the same as in College proper. Expenses will vary from $60 to $90 per term, dependent upon the place of boarding; upon the student's occupying private rooms, or apartments in common, under supervision of his Instructors; and upon the length of the Term.

In the following table the lowest amounts give (approximately) the lowest rates for the short Terms, and the highest amounts give the highest rates for the long Term.

Tuition, per Term,		$12.00 to $15.00
Room-rent,		3.00 " 5.00
Washing,		3.75 " 4.75
Light and Fuel,		2.50 " 7.00

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination in Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Robinson's Elementary Algebra, and one book of Geometry.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials, of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

Course of Instruction.

The whole Course of Instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The following scheme gives a general view of the studies of the several classes :

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by the Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, in developing the minds of the pupils.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

Department of Physical Science.

This department is furnished with an extensive collection of Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, to demonstrate by experiments the principles and phenomena of Natural Science.

A superior Telescope has been secured for the College, which, it is hoped, will soon be mounted for the use of students in Astronomy. It was manufactured by Mertz & Son, celebrated Opticians of Munich, in Germany, and has already rendered good service in Astronomical Science.

The Museum of the Linnæan Association contains a large collection of minerals, fossils, shells, birds, reptiles, and other animals, to illustrate the several branches of Natural Science; and also a great variety of rare curiosities and relics from all parts of the world. To these, additions are constantly made by the Trustees and friends of the Institution.

The celebrated cabinet of minerals of Mr. Seymour, of New York, has recently been added to the Museum of the College. This extensive collection, the result of thirty years' industry, contains many of the finest and rarest specimens of minerals in crystalline form to be found in this country.

The German Language.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the Language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

A German Society has also been organized by the students, designed to cultivate a facility in the use of this Language.

Literary Societies.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

Libraries.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	.	.	.	.	6,450 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	.	.	.	5,700 "
The Philomathæan	"	.	.	.	5,300 "
The Linnæan	"	.	.	.	100 "
The German Society	"	.	.	.	250 "
Total,	.	.	.	.	17,800

Examinations.

There is a public Examination during each College term. A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

Scholarships.

A permanent Scholarship in the Institution may be obtained by the payment of five hundred dollars, which secures to the holder perpetually the right of gratuitous instruction for one student. The certificate may be transferred or sold as any other certificate of stock. Several of these Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

Premiums.

A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given, at the close of the year, to that member of the Freshman Class, who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class who shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language, at the examination of the Class preceding the Annual Commencement.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's Day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of the College each term, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are about as follows :

Board, 13 weeks, at $3.25 per week,	. . . $42 25
Tuition,	. . . 13 00
Room Rents, etc.,	. . . 3 00
Washing,	. . . 4 00
Fuel and Light,	. . . 5 00
	$67 25
Total for the Collegiate year,	. . . $201 75

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

The tuition must in all cases be paid in advance.

An additional fee of $1.50 per term for contingent expenses is charged to students not residing in College buildings.

Parents or Guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be required.

Terms and Vacations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three and nine weeks, are devoted to vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

Instruction and Supervision.

A large and commodious building has been erected for the use of this department, and by recent action of the Board of Trustees, it has been reorganized with a special view to make additional provision for the reception and education of boys, whose tender age requires more particular care and supervision. The Superintendent resides in the building, provides the boarding, and under the general regulations of the Faculty, has the control and supervision of the discipline, lodging and religious instruction of the students.

Course of Study.

The course of study embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with text-books annexed.

Third Grade.

National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson.) Juvenile Definer, (Smith.) The Writing Speller, (Sherwood.) National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson.) New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton.) Progressive Intellectual, and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler's.) Primary History of the United States, (Goodrich.) First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos.) Penmanship, Drawing, (Bartholomew's.) Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

Second Grade.

Spelling and Defining, (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary.) Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader.) Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell.) Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler.) History of the United States, (Goodrich.) Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar, (Harkness.) Latin Reader, (Harkness.) First Greek Book, (Harkness.)

First Grade—Primarian Class.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell.) Comprehensive English Grammar, (Fowler.) Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) Composition and Rhetoric, (Quackenbos.) Natural Philosophy, (Peck's Ganot.) Biblical Antiquities, (Nevin.) Watts on the Mind, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar, and Introduction to Latin Composition; Cæsar, Virgil and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

Instruction in Vocal and Instrumental Music is provided for those desiring it.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional Exercises are held daily, morning and evening, conducted by the Superintendent or some one appointed by him. On the Lord's Day the regulations are the same as in the College proper.

Belles Lettres Society.

A Literary Association has been organized during the past year, which gives the more advanced students of this Department increased facilities for culture in speaking and writing.

Expenses.

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with the Terms and Vacations, are the same as in College proper. Expenses will vary from $60 to $90 per term, dependent upon the place of boarding; upon the student's occupying private rooms, or apartments in common, under supervision of his Instructors; and upon the length of the Term.

In the following table the lowest amounts give (approximately) the lowest rates for the short Terms, and the highest amounts give the highest rates for the long Term.

Tuition, per Term, ...	$12.00 to $15.00
Room-rent, ...	3.00 " 5.00
Washing, ...	3.75 " 4.75
Light and Fuel, ...	2.50 " 7.00
Use of Furniture, ...	3.00 " 5.00
Board, per week, with Superintendent, . .	3.25
Music on Piano, per term, ...	10.00
Use of Instrument, ...	3.00

The Tuition of Room-rent, together with one-half of the other expenses, must be paid in advance, the balance at the middle of the Term.

NOTE.

The Alumni Lists have been dropped from the Annual Catalogue this year, for the first time. Hereafter they are to be looked for in the Triennial Catalogue, where all other information of an historical nature will be found. The change in the time of issuing the Catalogue, from the end to the early part of the Scholastic Year, unavoidably debar's those who enter at the beginning of the second or third term, from having their names on the Catalogue issued for that year. This will, to some extent, account for a decrease in the numbers given this year.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination in Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Robinson's Elementary Algebra, and one book of Geometry.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials, of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

Cicero's Orations,	Algebra to 4th Section, (Robinson,)
Latin Prose Composition, (Arnold,)	Geometry, 3 Books, (Loomis,)
Greek Grammar, (Sophocles,)	German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
Xenophon's Anabasis or Cyropædia,	Etymological Forms of English Lan-
Classical Antiquities,	guage,
Ancient Geography,	History.

SECOND TERM.

Livy,	Algebra, to Section 7th, (Robinson,)
Latin Prose Composition, (Arnold,)	Geometry continued, (Loomis,)
Classical Antiquities,	Historical Elements of English Lan-
Xenophon's Anabasis or Cyropædia,	guage,
Philological Study of English, (Bun-	German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
yan,)	German Reader, (Heidenreich,)

THIRD TERM.

Livy continued,	German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
Latin Prose Composition,	Schiller's Wilhelm Tell,
Xenophon's Memorabilia,	Foster's Essays,
Greek Prose Composition, (Arnold,)	Rhetorical Forms of English Lan-
Algebra completed,	guage,
Geometry, 6 Books completed,	History.

Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

Odes of Horace,	Plane Trigonometry and Mensuration,
Latin Prose Composition,	(Loomis,)

Orations and written Debates throughout the year.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given by both Professors and Tutors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, or, as is rendered necessary by the subject.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF INTELLECTUAL AND MORAL SCIENCE.

Much attention is given to Mental Philosophy, Moral Science, and Christian Evidences. In several of these branches the use of text books is combined with lectures. The aim is to give the student a clear and extensive acquaintance with these important subjects. The lectures embrace an examination of the leading tendencies and questions of modern thought.

DEPARTMENT OF THE PHYSICAL AND NATURAL SCIENCES.

This department has been thoroughly re-organized, and now offers superior advantages for the study of these branches. This College hopes, by the increased attention which it, in common with our best educational institutions, now gives to these studies, to be able to meet the general demand in this direction, which is being made by the American public.

One of the College buildings, known as the Linnæan Hall, has been given over entirely to the uses of the department. It contains the Laboratory, Physical and Chemical Lecture Room, Collection of Philosophical Apparatus, the Mineral Collection, the Botanical and other Natural History Collections, and the general Museum.

Physical Sciences.—The College possesses a large collection of Physical Apparatus, of the most approved and modern construction, by means of which the principles of Physical Science can be very fully illustrated. The collection of Chemical Apparatus has been largely increased, and is now fully sufficient for all lecture-room experiments. It is the aim of the department, however, to accomplish not only this, but to furnish other and more enlarged facilities. As a result of the liberality of one of the Trustees of the College, the institution will shortly possess a well-appointed Analytical Laboratory, where students desirous of making a practical study of science will find facilities for so doing.

Natural Sciences.—The Mineral Collection, of which the Seymour Cabinet, purchased by the College a few years ago, forms the nucleus, numbers now between 3,000 and 4,000 choice specimens, and is constantly increasing. It has been recently re-arranged, re-labelled, and placed in new cases. The classes in Mineralogy have the advantage, (comparatively rare in our colleges,) of studying directly from so large a collection; the Lectures and recitations in Descriptive Mineralogy being held in the Collection Hall itself.

A large Collection of Fossils from all the geological formations is also on hand, and will be arranged in the course of the year.

The Botanical and Conchological Collections, as well as a Collection of Birds, have been re-arranged. The former two especially are large and well adapted for the study of Natural History.

In addition to these Scientific Collections, the large Hall of the Linnæan building contains Collections of Coins, Indian Remains of considerable archaeological interest, and relics and curiosities both ancient and modern.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS AND ASTRONOMY.

In the course of Mathematics there are four weekly exercises in the Freshman Class, three in the Sophomore Class, and two in the Junior Class, during the first and second sessions.

Particular attention is called to the requirements in the pure mathematics for admission to the Freshman Class. So abundant are the facilities for preparation in these studies, and so essential are the requirements to success in the subsequent parts of the course, that the full measure of preparation will be demanded.

The instruction in the Department of Mathematics is conveyed by the constant and systematic study of approved text books, interspersed with familiar lectures; the student being assisted by full and frequent explanations from the Professor, and being constantly subjected to rigid examinations. The progress of every student in each class is also tested by his being required to perform miscellaneous exercises, in which the principles acquired are applied to the solution of particular problems.

Astronomy.—During the third session, the Junior Class will have Descriptive Astronomy, and exercises on the globes. In the Senior year, a thorough course of Physical and Practical Astronomy, with Calculations of Eclipses, will be required.

DEPARTMENT OF THE LATIN LANGUAGE.

The instruction in this department comprises, in the earlier part of the course, thorough drill in the rudiments of the language, with the most rigid grammatical analysis. Selections from the classics are translated into English, whilst a considerable portion of the time is occupied with Arnold's Latin Prose Composition. In connection with the study of Horace, especial attention is given to Latin Prosody, and the Historical and Mythological allusions of the text. In the latter part of the course, with Terence as the text-book, the derivation of Latin words, and the development of the language from its older forms, is examined. Some attention will hereafter be paid to the Mediaeval Latin. The writing of Latin essays is a regular exercise of the Junior and Senior Classes.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GREEK LANGUAGE.

The study of the Greek is continued throughout the course, with more time devoted to it in the earlier classes. The continental method of pronunciation is adopted, and the written accent observed in reading. Exercises in translating English into Greek, accompanied by writing, and illustrated on the black-board, form part of the course. The Etymology of Words, and Comparative Philology, render the recitations interesting. The Historians, Poets, and Orators of the best age of Grecian literature form the authors in the course.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

In this department, the English Classics are studied in the same mode, and with the same thoroughness, as the Greek and Latin. Chaucer, Spenser, Shakspeare, Milton, and Bunyan, are used as text-books in the class-room. The text is analyzed, the idioms examined, and the laws investigated by which words grow from their respective roots into our language. The physical or historical elements of the tongue are studied in connection with Clark's English Language. Special attention is also given to Logical and Rhetorical Forms, and to the usual Historical Course of English Literature. In addition to this theoretical study of the English language, there are weekly exercises in each class in Essay-Writing, Declamations, Orations, or Debates.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

During the Junior and Senior years the language is exclusively employed in the class-room.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	.	.	.	6,750 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	.	.	5,700 "
The Philomathæan	"	.	.	5,500 "
The Linnæan	"	.	.	100 "
The German Society	"	.	.	250 "
Total,	.	.	.	18,300

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a Public Examination at the close of each College term. In case of failure to be present at the Examination, from physical inability, or indispensable call of duty, excused by the Faculty, the Examination is held at the discretion of the Faculty, either before the student shall withdraw, or at nine o'clock of the first day of the next term, before entering his name on the roll of the class.

A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Several Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

PRIZES.

THE FRESHMAN PRIZE.—A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given at the close of the year to that member of the Freshman Class who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

The Prize for 1871, (Class of 1874,) was awarded to HENRY M. EVANS.

HASSLER LATIN PRIZE.—Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class, who, at the end of the year, shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language.

This Medal was awarded last year, (Class of 1872,) to CHRISTIAN HOOVER.

GRAEFF ENGLISH PRIZE.—This Prize was founded by the Rev. John E. Graeff, of Philadelphia. A Gold Medal is awarded for the best Essay from the Senior Class, on a subject previously assigned. The decision is made by a Committee appointed by the Professor of English Literature.

The Class of 1871 wrote on the "Comus of Milton." The Prize was awarded to BENJAMIN KURTZ, and M. J. A. EMERY.

The Class of 1872 will write on the "Cotter's Saturday Night," of Robert Burns.

The successful Essay will hereafter be read in public, as announced in the Calendar, at the close of the second term, in March.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of the Collegiate year, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and traveling expenses, are about as follows:

Board, 39 weeks, at $3.25 per week,	· · ·	$126 75
Tuition, for 1st term,	· · ·	$20 00
“ “ 2d “	· · ·	15 00
“ “ 3d “	· · ·	15 00
		50 00
Room rents, &c.,	· · ·	9 00
Washing,	· · ·	12 00
Fuel and Lights,	· · ·	10 00
Total for Collegiate year,	· · ·	$207 75

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

Parents or guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be required.

The Tuition must in all cases be paid in advance. No student will be allowed to recite with his class until he has shown the Professor a receipt from the College Treasurer, or a note, stating that he has made some satisfactory arrangement with the Treasurer.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three, and nine weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

Unexcused absences from recitation are counted as zeros upon the grades.

The attention of parents and guardians is specially called to the fact that absences from recitation, whether at the opening of terms or at other times, are not excused except for sickness or imperative necessity.

JUNIOR PREPARATORIANS, 19.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed :

THIRD GRADE.

National Pronouncing Speller with Dictation Exercises, (Parker and Watson.) Juvenile Definer, (Smith.) The Writing Speller, (Sherwood.) National Fourth Reader, (Parker and Watson.) New Intermediate Geography, (Mitchell) with Outline Maps, (Pelton.) Progressive Intellectual, and Practical Arithmetic, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler's.) First Lessons in Composition, (Quackenbos.) Penmanship, Drawing, (Bartholomew's.) Vocal Music, and Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

SECOND GRADE.

Spelling and Defining, (Scholar's Companion and Webster's Dictionary.) Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson's Fifth National Reader.) Dictation Exercises. New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell.) Progressive Intellectual, and Higher Arithmetics, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) English Grammar, (Fowler.) History of the United States, (Goodrich.) Penmanship, Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Latin Grammar, (Harkness.) Latin Reader, (Harkness.) First Greek Book, (Harkness.)

FIRST GRADE—PRIMARIAN CLASS.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell.) Comprehensive English Grammar, (Fowler.) Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robinson.) New Elementary Algebra, (Robinson.) Composition and Rhetoric, (Quackenbos.) Natural Philosophy, (Peck's Ganot.) Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation. Harkness' Latin Grammar, and Introduction to Latin Composition; Cæsar, Virgil, and Sallust. Sophocles' Greek Grammar, and Owen's Greek Reader.

Instruction in Vocal and Instrumental Music is provided for those desiring it.

INSTRUCTION AND SUPERVISION.

The Preparatory Department is under the general direction of the Board of Trustees and Faculty of the parent Institution. A Superintendent and two Tutors have special supervision of Department and Instruction. The commodious building recently erected has been re-modeled, so as to abandon the dormitory system. Students have separate rooms for study and sleeping purposes, thus securing the greatest comfort and health.

THE SUPERINTENDENT resides in the building and has constant charge of the pupils, making the Institution as home-like and safe a place as possible for boys and young men. Pupils board at the same table with the Superintendent, in a building connected with the Department.

BELLES LETTRES SOCIETY.

A Literary Association has been organized during the past year, which gives the more advanced students of this Department increased facilities for culture in speaking and writing.

EXPENSES.

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with the Terms and Vacations, are the same as in College proper. Expenses will vary from $60 to $90 per term, dependent upon the place of boarding; upon the student's occupying private rooms, or apartments in common, under supervision of his Instructors; and upon the length of the Term.

In the following table, the lowest amounts give (approximately) the lowest rates for the short Terms, and the highest amounts give the highest rates for the long Term :

Tuition, per Term, ...	$12 00 to $15 00
Room-rent, ...	3 00 " 5 00
Washing, ...	3 75 " 4 75
Light and Fuel, ...	2 50 " 7 00
Use of Furniture, ...	3 00 " 5 00
Board, per week, with Superintendent, ...	3 25
" " " Club rates, ...	2 85
Music on Piano, per Term, ...	10 00
Use of Instrument, ...	3 00

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with one-half of the other expenses, must be paid in advance, the balance at the middle of the Term.

IRREGULARS 4.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination in Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, Latin Grammar, Greek Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Robinson's Elementary Algebra, and one book of Geometry.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials, of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows :

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

Cicero's Orations,	Algebra, to 4th Section, (Robinson,)
Latin Prose Composition, (Arnold.)	Geometry, 3 Books, (Loomis,)
Greek Grammar,	German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)

INSTRUCTION AND SUPERVISION.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both textbooks and lectures, as they find most efficient, or, as is rendered necessary by the subject.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF INTELLECTUAL AND MORAL SCIENCE.

Much attention is given to Mental Philosophy, Moral Science, and Christian Evidences. In several of these branches, the use of text books is combined with lectures. The aim is to give the student a clear and extensive acquaintance with these important subjects. The lectures embrace an examination of the leading tendencies and questions of modern thought.

DEPARTMENT OF THE PHYSICAL AND NATURAL SCIENCES.

This department has been thoroughly re-organized, and now offers superior advantages for the study of these branches. This College hopes, by the increased attention which it, in common with our best educational institutions, now gives to these studies, to be able to meet the general demand in this direction, which is being made by the American public.

One of the College buildings, known as the Linnaean Hall, has been given over entirely to the uses of the department. It contains the Laboratory, Physical and Chemical Lecture Room, Collection of Philosophical Apparatus, the Mineral Collection, the Botanical and other Natural History Collections, and the general Museum.

Physical Sciences.—The College possesses a large collection of Physical Apparatus, of the most approved and modern construction, by means of which the principles of Physical Science can be very fully illustrated. The collection of Chemical Apparatus has been largely increased, and is now fully sufficient for all lecture-room experiments. It is the aim of the department, however, to accomplish not only this, but to furnish other and more enlarged facilities. As a result of the liberality of one of the Trustees of the College, the institution now possesses a well appointed Analytical Laboratory, where practical instruction in Qualitative and Quantitative Analytical Chemistry, and in Mineral Analysis, will be given to special students.

To young men desirous of a more special knowledge of the sciences, or wishing to prepare themselves for the study of medicine, or the business of druggist, an opportunity is thus offered.

Natural Sciences.—The Mineral Collection, of which the Seymour Cabinet, purchased by the College a few years ago, forms the nucleus, numbers now between 3,000 and 4,000 choice specimens, and is constantly increasing. It has been recently re-arranged, re-labelled, and placed in new cases. The classes in Mineralogy have the advantage (comparatively rare in our colleges) of studying directly from so large a collection, each lecture being illustrated by suites of the finest and most characteristic specimens in the Cabinet.

A large Collection of Fossils from all the geological formations is also on hand, and will shortly be arranged.

The Botanical and Conchological Collections, as well as a Collection of Birds, have been re-arranged. The former two especially are large and well adapted for the study of Natural History.

In addition to these Scientific Collections, the large Hall of the Linnæan building contains Collections of Coins, Indian Remains of considerable archæological interest, and relics and curiosities both ancient and modern.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS AND ASTRONOMY.

In the course of Mathematics there are four weekly exercises in the Freshman Class, three in the Sophomore Class, and two in the Junior Class, during the first and second sessions.

Particular attention is called to the requirements in the pure mathematics for admission to the Freshman Class. So abundant are the facilities for preparation in these studies, and so essential are the requirements to success in the subsequent parts of the course, that the full measure of preparation will be demanded.

The instruction in the Department of Mathematics is conveyed by the constant and systematic study of approved text books, interspersed with familiar lectures; the student being assisted by full and frequent explanations from the Professor, and being constantly subjected to rigid examinations. The progress of every student in each class is also tested by his being required to perform miscellaneous exercises, in which the principles acquired are applied to the solution of particular problems.

Astronomy.—During the third session, the Junior Class will have Descriptive Astronomy, and exercises on the globe. In the Senior year, a thorough course of Physical and Practical Astronomy, with Calculations of Eclipses, will be required.

DEPARTMENT OF THE LATIN LANGUAGE.

The instruction in this department comprises, in the earlier part of the course, thorough drill in the rudiments of the language, with the most rigid grammatical analysis. Selections from the classics are translated into English, whilst a considerable portion of the time is occupied with Arnold's Latin Prose Composition. In connection with the study of Horace, especial attention is given to Latin Prosody, and the Historical and Mythological allusions of the text. In the latter part of the course, the derivation of Latin words, and the development of the language from its older forms, is examined. The course ends with an introduction to the Mediæval Latin, as represented in St. Augustine. The writing of Latin essays is a regular exercise of the Junior and Senior Classes.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GREEK LANGUAGE.

The study of the Greek is continued throughout the course, with more time devoted to it in the earlier classes. The continental method of pronunciation is adopted, and the written accent observed in reading. Exercises in translating English into Greek, accompanied by writing, and illustrated on the black-board, form part of the course. The Etymology of Words, and Comparative Philology, render the recitations interesting. The Historians, Poets, and Orators of the best age of Grecian literature form the authors in the course.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

In this department, the English Classics are studied in the same mode, and with the same thoroughness, as the Greek and Latin. Chaucer, Spenser, Shakspeare, Milton, and Bunyan, are used as text-books in the class-room. The text is analyzed, the idioms examined, and the laws investigated by which words grow from their respective roots into our language. The physical or historical elements of the tongue are studied in connection with Clark's English Language. Special attention is also given to Logical and Rhetorical Forms, and to the usual Historical Course of English Literature. In addition to this theoretical study of the English language, there are weekly exercises in each class in Essay-Writing, Declamations, Orations, or Debates.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

During the Junior and Senior years the language is exclusively employed in the class-room.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works. The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	-	-	6,850 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	-	5,860 "
The Philomathæan	"	-	5,700 "
The Linnæan	"	-	100 "
The German Society	"	-	250 "
Total,	-	-	18,760

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a Public Examination at the close of each College term. In case of failure to be present at the Examination, from physical inability, or indispensable call of duty, excused by the Faculty, the Examination is held at the discretion of the Faculty, either before the student shall withdraw, or at nine o'clock of the first day of the next term, before entering his name on the roll of the class.

A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Several Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. W. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of the Collegiate year, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and traveling expenses, are about as follows:

Board, 39 weeks, at $3.25 per week,	-	-	$126 75
Tuition, for 1st term,	-	-	$20 00
“ “ 2d “	-	-	15 00
“ “ 3d “	-	-	15 00
			50 00
Room rents, &c.,	-	-	9 00
Washing,	-	-	12 00
Fuel and Lights,	-	-	10 00
Total for Collegiate year,	-	-	$207 75

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

Parents or guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be required.

The Tuition must in all cases be paid in advance. No student will be allowed to recite with his class until he has shown the Professor a receipt from the College Treasurer, or a note, stating that he has made some satisfactory arrangement with the Treasurer.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three, and nine weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

Unexcused absences from recitation are counted as zeros upon the grades.

The attention of parents and guardians is specially called to the fact that absences from recitation, whether at the opening of terms or at other times, are not excused except for sickness or imperative necessity.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

THIRD GRADE.

Fifth National Reader, (Parker and Watson.)	Elementary English Grammar, (Fowler.)
New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell.)	Penmanship, (Payson, Dunton and Scribner.)

INSTRUCTION AND SUPERVISION.

The Preparatory Department is under the general direction of the Board of Trustees and Faculty of the parent Institution. A Principal and two Tutors have special supervision of Department and Instruction. The commodious building recently erected has been re-modeled, so as to abandon the dormitory system. Students have separate rooms for study and sleeping purposes, thus securing the greatest comfort and health.

The Principal resides in the building and has constant charge of the pupils, making the Institution as home-like and safe a place as possible for boys and young men.

BELLES LETTRES SOCIETY.

A Literary Association has been organized during the past few years, which gives the more advanced students of this Department increased facilities for culture in speaking and writing.

EXPENSES.

The Tuition and Room-rent, together with the Terms and Vacations, are the same as in College proper. Expenses will vary from $60 to $90 per term, dependent upon the place of boarding; upon the student's occupying private rooms, or apartments in common, under supervision of his Instructors; and upon the length of the Term.

In the following table, the lowest amounts give (approximately) the lowest rates for the short Terms, and the highest amounts give the highest rates for the long Term:

Tuition, per Term,	-	-	-	$12 00 to $15 00

Conditions of Admission.

Examinations for admission to the College are held for several days before Commencement, (June 20th to 25th,) beginning at 9 o'clock A. M., in the President's room. Applicants for admission are also examined for several days before the opening of the first term, at the same hour and place. While there may be examinations at any other time, all who can do so are urged to present themselves at the appointed time.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are subject to examination in the following books, or their equivalents:

LATIN.—Latin Grammar; Latin Reader, or Manual of Latin Grammar and Composition; two books of Cæsar's Gallic War; two books of Virgil's Æneid.

GREEK.—Greek Grammar; Greek Reader, or Greek Lessons, including extracts from the Anabasis.

MATHEMATICS.—Arithmetic complete; Elementary Algebra, (Robinson's, Loomis', or Olney's); one book of Geometry.

ENGLISH.—English Grammar and Spelling; Ancient and Modern Geography; History of the United States.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The following schedule presents a comparative view of the studies of the various classes. Equivalents for the books mentioned are used by the various Professors at their discretion.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, or as is rendered necessary by the subject.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

DEPARTMENT OF INTELLECTUAL AND MORAL SCIENCE.

Much attention is given to Mental Philosophy, Moral Science, and Christian Evidences. In several of these branches the use of text-books is combined with lectures. The aim is to give the student a clear and extensive acquaintance with these important subjects. The lectures embrace an examination of the leading tendencies and questions of modern thought.

DEPARTMENT OF THE PHYSICAL AND NATURAL SCIENCES.

This department has been thoroughly re-organized, and now offers superior advantages for the study of these branches. This College hopes, by the increased attention which it, in common with our best educational institutions, now gives to these studies, to be able to meet the general demand in this direction, which is being made by the American public.

One of the College buildings, known as the Linnaean Hall, has been given over entirely to the uses of the department. It contains the Laboratory, Physical and Chemical Lecture Room, Collection of Philosophical Apparatus, the Mineral Collection, the Botanical and other Natural History Collections, and the general Museum.

Physical Sciences.—The College possesses a large collection of Physical Apparatus, of the most approved and modern construction, by means of which the principles of Physical Science can be very fully illustrated. The collection of Chemical Apparatus has been largely increased, and is now fully sufficient for all lecture-room experiments. It is the aim of the department, however, to accomplish not only this, but to furnish other and more enlarged facilities. As a result of the liberality of one of the Trustees of the College, the Institution now possesses a well appointed Analytical Laboratory, where practical instruction in Qualitative and Quantitative Analytical Chemistry, and in Mineral Analysis, is given to special students.

To young men desirous of a more special knowledge of the sciences, or wishing to prepare themselves for the study of medicine, or the business of druggist, an opportunity is thus offered.

Natural Sciences.—The Mineral Collection, of which the Seymour Cabinet, purchased by the College a few years ago, forms the nucleus, numbers now between 3,000 and 4,000 choice specimens, and is constantly increasing. It has been recently re-arranged, re-labelled, and placed in new cases. The classes in Mineralogy have the advantage (comparatively rare in our colleges) of studying directly from so large a collection, each lecture being illustrated by suites of the finest and most characteristic specimens in the Cabinet.

A large Collection of Fossils from all the geological formations is also on hand, and will shortly be arranged.

The Botanical and Conchological Collections, as well as a Collection of Birds, have been re-arranged. The former two especially are large and well adapted for the study of Natural History.

In addition to these Scientific Collections, the large Hall of the Linnaean building contains Collections of Coins, Indian Remains of considerable archæological interest, and relics and curiosities both ancient and modern.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS AND ASTRONOMY.

In the course of Mathematics there are four weekly exercises in the Freshman Class, three in the Sophomore Class, and two, during the first and second sessions, in the Junior Class.

Particular attention is called to the requirements in the pure mathematics for admission to the Freshman Class. So abundant are the facilities for preparation in these studies, and so essential are the requirements to success in the subsequent parts of the course, that the full measure of preparation will be demanded.

The instruction in the Department of Mathematics is conveyed by the constant and systematic study of approved text books, interspersed with familiar lectures; the student being assisted by full and frequent explanations from the Professor, and being constantly subjected to rigid examinations. The progress of every student in each class is also tested by his being required to perform miscellaneous exercises, in which the principles acquired are applied to the solution of particular problems.

Astronomy.—During the third session, the Junior Class will have Descriptive Astronomy, and exercises on the globe. In the Senior year, a thorough course of Physical and Practical Astronomy, with Calculations of Eclipses, will be required.

DEPARTMENT OF THE LATIN LANGUAGE.

The instruction in this department comprises, in the earlier part of the course, thorough drill in the rudiments of the language, with the most rigid grammatical analysis. Selections from the classics are translated into English, whilst a considerable portion of the time is occupied with Arnold's Latin Prose Composition. In connection with the study of Horace, especial attention is given to Latin Prosody, and the Historical and Mythological allusions of the text. In the latter part of the course, the derivation of Latin words, and the development of the language from its older forms, is examined. The course ends with an introduction to the Mediæval Latin, as represented in St. Augustine. The writing of Latin essays is a regular exercise of the Junior and Senior Classes.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GREEK LANGUAGE.

The study of the Greek is continued throughout the course, with more time devoted to it in the earlier classes. The continental method of pronunciation is adopted, and the written accent observed in reading. Exercises in translating English into Greek, accompanied by writing, and illustrated on the black-board, form part of the course. The Etymology of Words, and Comparative Philology, render the recitations interesting. The Historians, Poets, and Orators of the best age of Grecian literature form the authors in the course.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

In this department, during the Freshman year, attention is given chiefly to English History, Rhetoric and Elocution as a foundation for succeeding work. The Sophomore year begins with a thorough mastery of the elements of Anglo-Saxon Grammar, as a necessary preparation for the etymological study of words, in the texts of such authors as Chaucer, Spenser and Bacon. These English classics are studied largely in the same mode and with the same thoroughness as the Greek and Latin. The Junior year is appropriated mainly to literary analysis and criticism, with Shakespeare and Milton as text-books. The Senior year is devoted to the subjects of Political and Social Science. Besides this there are weekly exercises in each Class in Essay-Writing, Declamations, Orations or Debates.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

During the Junior and Senior years the language is exclusively employed in the class-room.

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL HISTORY.

Linnæan Hall contains a well selected collection of zoölogical, mineral and floral specimens, in some respects quite extensive and in all respects quite sufficient to afford the lecturer on Zoölogy and Botany illustrations of all his topics. This lectureship is sustained by yearly contributions from a few friends of the College, whose benefactions have been a great blessing to the students. Their example is held forth to others for imitation.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The two Literary Societies connected with the College, are the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

Reading rooms are connected with the Societies, containing the prominent daily, weekly and monthly issues of the press.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works.

The collection, however, is not receiving supplies adequate to the wants of the Institution. By the gift of $1000, a number of years ago, from friends of the College, given in small sums, considerable additions have been made year by year. This fund by judicious investment now amounts to $1500, and yields about $150 per annum. Donations to this object, either in money or books, are earnestly solicited.

The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	-	-	-	7,050 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	-	-	5,900 "
The Philomathæan	"	-	-	5,840 "
The Linnæan	"	-	-	100 "
The Germany Society	"	-	-	250 "
Total,				19,140

GYMNASIUM.

This Edifice, to which John B. McCreary, Esq., of Philadelphia, made the chief contribution, with its apparatus and furniture, affords abundant opportunity for exercise, recreation, and good physical culture. The students attend, under such regulations as they themselves, in their Gymnasium Association, establish, and ample time is afforded for voluntary exercise.

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a Public Examination at the close of each College term. In case of failure to be present at the Examination, from physical inability, or indispensable call of duty, excused by the Faculty, the Examination is held at the discretion of the Faculty, either before the student shall withdraw, or at nine o'clock of the first day of the next term, before entering his name on the roll of the class.

A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

The final examination of the Graduating Class is held five weeks before Commencement, from which time they are subject only to such duties as are required for their preparation for Commencement. Those who absent themselves during this interval must return before the delivery of the Baccalaureate Address of the President.

DEGREES.

To all members of the Graduating Class, in full and regular standing, a diploma is granted conferring the Academic degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The degree of Master of Arts is conferred, in course, on Bachelors of three or more years standing; but, by resolution of the Board of Trustees, all applicants for the Master's degree must make application to the Faculty, in writing, at least one week before the Annual Commencement.

All members of the Senior Class, upon their entrance on the last session of their course of study, pay an extra fee of Five Dollars to the Treasurer, with their college bills, which is refunded in cases of failure in obtaining the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Several Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. G. W. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

PRIZES.

The Freshman Prize.—A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given at the close of the year to that member of the Freshman Class who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

The Prize for 1873, (Class of 1876,) was awarded to JACOB YUTZY, of Oakland, Md.

Hassler Latin Prize.—Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior Class, who, at the end of the year, shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language.

This Medal was awarded last year, (Class of 1874,) to JOHN B. FOCHT, of Lewisburg, Pa.

Graeff English Prize.—This Prize was founded by the Rev. John E. Graeff, of Philadelphia. A Gold Medal is awarded for the best Essay from the Senior Class, on a subject previously assigned. The decision is made by a Committee appointed by the Professor of English Literature.

The Class of 1873 wrote on the "Vicar of Wakefield," by Oliver Goldsmith. The Prize was awarded to JOHN A. SINGMASTER, of Macungie, Pa.

The Class of 1874 will write on Tennyson's "Idyls of the King."

The Committee of award this year consists of

Rev. C. A. STORK, of Baltimore, Md.

Rev. E. J. WOLF, " "

S. D. SCHMUCKER, Esq., " "

The successful Essay will be read in public, as announced in the Calendar, on Thursday Evening, March 27th, at the College Church.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of the Collegiate year, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and traveling expenses, are about as follows:

Board, 39 weeks, at $3.25 per week,	-	-	$126 75
Tuition, for 1st term,	-	-	$20 00
“ “ 2d “	-	-	15 00
“ “ 3d “	-	-	15 00
			50 00
Room rent, &c.,	-	-	9 00
Washing,	-	-	12 00
Fuel and Lights,	-	-	10 00
Total for Collegiate year,	-	-	$207 75

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

Parents or guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be required.

The Tuition must in all cases be paid in advance. No student will be allowed to recite with his class until he has shown the Professor a receipt from the College Treasurer, or a note, stating that he has made some satisfactory arrangement with the Treasurer.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three, and nine weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

Unexcused absences from recitation are counted as zeros upon the grades.

The attention of parents and guardians is specially called to the fact that absences from recitation, whether at the opening of terms or at other times, are not excused except for sickness or imperative necessity.

Course of Study.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

THIRD GRADE.

Fifth National Reader, (Parker and Watson,)	Elementary English Grammar, (Fowler,)
New School Geography and Atlas, (Mitchell,)	Penmanship, (Payson, Dunton and Scribner,)
Progressive Intellectual Arithmetic, (Robinson,)	Spelling and Defining, (Scholar's Companion,)
Progressive Higher Arithmetic, (Robinson,)	Vocal Music,
	Exercises in Composition and Declamation,

SECOND GRADE.

Spelling and Defining continued, (Scholar's Companion,)	History of the United States, (Goodrich,)
Elocution and Literature, (Parker and Watson,)	Penmanship continued, (Payson Dunton and Scribner,)
New School Geography and Atlas completed, (Mitchell,)	Book-Keeping, (Payson, Dunton and Scribner,)
Progressive Higher Arithmetic con- tinued, (Robinson,)	Latin Grammar and Reader, (Harkness,)
New Elementary Algebra, (Robin- son,)	First Greek Book, (Harkness,)
Elementary English Grammar com- pleted, (Fowler,)	Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

FIRST GRADE.--Primarian Class.

Ancient Geography, (Mitchell,)	Natural Philosophy, (Peck's Ganot,)
Comprehensive English Grammar, (Fowler,)	Latin Grammar continued, (Hark- ness,)
Progressive Higher Arithmetic and Arithmetical Examples, (Robin- son,)	Cæsar, (Chase and Stuart,)
New Elementary Algebra completed, (Robinson,)	Virgil, (Chase and Stuart,)
Geometry, (Robinson,)	Greek Reader, (Owen,)
Composition and Rhetoric, (Quack- enbos,)	Greek Grammar, (Sophocles,)
	Vocal Music, Exercises in Composition and Declamation.

Instruction and Supervision.

The Preparatory Department is under the general direction of the Board of Trustees and Faculty of the parent Institution. The Superintendent and Tutors have special supervision of Department and Instruction. Students have separate rooms for study and sleeping purposes, thus securing the greatest comfort and health.

The Superintendent resides, with his family, in the building and has the supervision of the boarding department and the constant charge of the pupils, making the Institution as home-like and safe a place as possible for boys and young men.

BELLES LETTRES SOCIETY.

A Literary Association has been organized during the past few years, which gives the more advanced students of this Department increased facilities for culture in speaking and writing.

LIBRARIES AND LITERARY SOCIETIES.

All the students in this Department have access, without charge, to the College Library. Those over fifteen years of age have the privilege of joining either of the Literary Societies. (See page 18.)

EXPENSES.

The Expenses vary from $70 to $90 per term.

Conditions of Admission.

Examinations for admission to the College are held for several days before Commencement, (June 19th to 24th,) beginning at 9 o'clock A. M., in the President's room. Applicants for admission are also examined for several days before the opening of the first term, at the same hour and place. While there may be examinations at any other time, all who can do so are urged to present themselves at the appointed time.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are subject to examination in the following books, or their equivalents:

LATIN.—Latin Grammar; Latin Reader, or Manual of Latin Grammar and Composition; two books of Cæsar's Gallic War; two books of Virgil's Æneid.

GREEK.—Greek Grammar, complete; Greek Reader, or Greek Lessons, including extracts from the Anabasis.

MATHEMATICS.—Arithmetic, complete; Elementary Algebra, (Robinson's, Loomis', or Olney's); one book of Geometry.

ENGLISH.—English Grammar and Spelling; Ancient and Modern Geography; History of the United States.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter has attended. ◀

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive full advantage of the College course. It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of complete preparatory study.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The following schedule presents a comparative view of the studies of the various classes. Equivalents for the books mentioned are used by the various Professors at their discretion.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

Cicero's Orations,
Latin Prose Composition. (Arnold,)
Xenophon's Anabasis or Cyropædia,
Greek Prose Composition, (Jones,)
Classical Antiquities, Ancient Geography.

Algebra, to 4th Section, (Robinson,)
Geometry, 4 Books, (Loomis,)
German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
English History.

SECOND TERM.

Livy,
Latin Prose Composition, (Arnold,)
Classical Antiquities,
Xenophon's Anabasis or Cyropædia,
Greek Prose Composition,
Algebra, to Section 7th, (Robinson,)

Geometry, continued, (Loomis,) Philological Study of English,
(Bunyan,)
German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
German Reader, (Whitney,)
Elocution.

THIRD TERM.

Livy, continued,
Latin Prose Composition,
Xenophon's Memorabilia,
Greek Prose Composition,
Algebra, completed,
Geometry of Planes and Solids,

German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
Schiller's Ghostseer,
Rhetorical Forms of English Language, Rhetoric.

Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

Odes of Horace,
Latin Prose Composition,
Felton's Greek Historians,
Greek Prose Composition, (Boise,)
Conic Sections, (Loomis,)
Plane Trigonometry and Mensuration, (Loomis,)

German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
Schiller's Revolt of the Netherlands, Zoology,
Anglo-Saxon, (March,)
Physiology.

SECOND TERM.

Odes of Horace, continued,
 Latin Prose Composition,
 Tusculan Disputations,
 Felton's Greek Historians,
 Greek Prose Composition,
 Analytical Geometry, (Loomis,)
 Surveying and Navigation, (Loomis,)

Chaucer, (Canterbury Tales,)
 German Grammar, (Eichhorn,)
 Schiller—Thirty Years' War,
 German Composition,
 Botany.

THIRD TERM.

Satires and Epistles of Horace,
 Plautus or Terence,
 Latin Prose Composition,
 Select Orations of Lysias,
 Greek Prose Composition,
 Spherical Trigonometry, (Loomis,)

Analytical Geometry, (Loomis,)
 Schiller—Thirty Years' War,
 German Composition,
 Ganot's Physics, to Acoustics,
 Spenser, (Faëry Queen.)
 Bacon, (Essays,)

Composition and Declamation throughout the year.

JUNIOR CLASS.FIRST TERM.

Intellectual Science, (Porter,)
 Quintilian, or Cicero de Oratore,
 Latin Composition,
 Homer's Iliad,
 Differential Calculus, (Loomis,)
 Schiller—Maid of Orleans,

Translation into German, (Shakespeare,)
 German Composition,
 Dramatic Art : Shakespeare,
 Ganot's Physics, to Magnetism.

SECOND TERM.

Intellectual Science, (Porter,)
 Juvenal, or Latin Hymns,
 Latin Composition,
 Prometheus of Æschylus,
 Integral Calculus, (Loomis,)
 Schiller—Maid of Orleans,

German Composition,
 Translation into German, (Shakespeare,)
 Epic Art : Milton,
 Ganot's Physics, concluded.

THIRD TERM.

Paley's Natural Theology, with Lectures,
 Cicero pro Cluentio,
 Ajax of Sophocles,
 Descriptive Astronomy,
 Schiller—(Ballads,)

German Composition,
 Lectures on Mental Philosophy,
 Logic, (Atwater,)
 History of English Literature,
 Inorganic Chemistry, (Lectures and Recitations,)

Declamations and Written Debates throughout the year.

SENIOR CLASS.FIRST TERM.

Evidences of Christianity, (Paley,) Tacitus,

Demosthenes on the Crown,
 Gæthe—Iphigenia of Tauris,

German Essays,
Lectures on Chemistry, Organic and Technical,
Lectures on Evidences of Christianity,

Political Economy, (Perry,) Lectures on Descriptive Mineralogy, with use of Dana's Manual.

SECOND TERM.

Lectures on Inspiration,
Butler's Analogy, with Lectures,
Augustine,
Plato,
Astronomy,
Keith on the Globes,
History of the East, (Smith,)

Translation of Shakespeare's Hamlet, (German,)
Goethe—Iphigenia of Tauris,
Constitution of the United States,
(Story,)
Dana's Manual of Geology.

THIRD TERM.

Lectures on Moral Philosophy,
Augustine,

Astronomy,
History of Civilization, (Guizot,)
Dana's Manual of Geology,

Translation of Shakespeare's Hamlet, (German,)
Goethe—Faust,
Political and Social Science, (Lectures,)

Original Orations and Essays throughout the year.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction in the College is given entirely by Professors, who have had the advantages of enlarged experience in their respective departments. They employ both text-books and lectures, as they find most efficient, or as is rendered necessary by the subject.

The discipline of the Institution is, as far as practicable, parental. The President and Vice-President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, exercise a constant guardianship over the whole establishment. In this the other officers also co-operate, and parents at a distance can feel assured that all judicious efforts will be made for the proper government and culture of their children.

INTELLECTUAL AND MORAL SCIENCE.

Much attention is given to Mental Philosophy, Moral Science, and Christian Evidences. In several of these branches the use of text-books is combined with lectures. The aim is to give the student a clear and extensive acquaintance with these important subjects. The lectures embrace an examination of the leading tendencies and questions of modern thought.

PHYSICAL AND NATURAL SCIENCES.

Since the issue of the last Catalogue the means of instruction in Science have been greatly increased by the division of the chair of Physical Science, and the organization of the Department of Physics and Astronomy, and that of Chemistry and Mineralogy. Linnæan Hall has been devoted to the use of these Departments.

Physics and Astronomy.—The study of Physics is begun in the latter part of the Sophomore year, and is continued to the end of the second session of the Junior year. The principles of this science are illustrated by means of the Philosophical Apparatus in the possession of the College, a large part of which is of the most approved and modern construction. Experiments and lectures accompany the use of the text-book. Candidates for the Junior class will be required to pass an examination on the subjects that precede Acoustics in Ganot's Physics.

The Seniors have Astronomy three times a week from the beginning of the winter session till their final examination. The facilities for instruction in this science have been largely increased within the last year. Through the liberality of some of the friends of the College, an Observatory has been erected, and in a few months will be furnished with a full equipment of Astronomical and Meteorological instruments. The Equatorial Telescope has been mounted, the Transit Instrument has been purchased, and efforts are now being made to add an Astronomical Clock and Chronograph. All will be freely used for the general purposes of Class instruction.

Chemistry and Mineralogy.—In the regular course apply time is assigned to Chemistry to attain the aim of the instruction in that science, namely to give the student a practical acquaintance with the science as established by the most recent investigations, and to show the value of its applications and conclusions to the arts and the economy of life.

Five hours a week, during the third term of Junior year, are devoted to Inorganic Chemistry. Three hours a week, during first term of Senior, are occupied with Organic Chemistry and the chemistry of Plant Growth.

Mineralogy is taught by having the student make a personal examination of the specimens belonging to the valuable Mineral Collection in the possession of the College.

Three hours a week, during first term of Senior year, are devoted to this subject.

Provision is made for Laboratory work, including Qualitative, Quantitative, and Mineral Analysis, and excellent opportunity is offered special students to acquaint themselves more fully, at small expense, with General Chemistry, or to prepare for the study of Medicine or Pharmacy or for engagement in manufacturing pursuits.

The facilities for instruction, in both class room and Laboratory, are being constantly augmented.

Physiology, Zoölogy, Botany, and a more extended course in Geology, completes the usual scientific studies.

MATHEMATICS.

In the course of Mathematics there are four weekly exercises in the Freshman Class, three in the Sophomore Class, and two, during the first and second sessions, in the Junior Class.

Particular attention is called to the requirements in the pure Mathematics for admission to the Freshman Class. So abundant are the facilities for preparation in these studies, and so essential are the requirements to success in the subsequent parts of the course, that the full measure of preparation will be demanded.

The instruction in the Department of Mathematics is conveyed by the constant and systematic study of approved text books, interspersed with familiar lectures; the student being assisted by full and frequent explanations from the Professor, and being constantly subjected to rigid examinations. The progress of every student in each class is also tested by his being required to perform miscellaneous exercises, in which the principles acquired are applied to the solution of particular problems.

LATIN LANGUAGE.

The instruction in this department comprises, in the earlier part of the course, thorough drill in the rudiments of the language, with the most rigid grammatical analysis. Selections from the classics are translated into English, whilst a considerable portion of the time is occupied with Arnold's Latin Prose Composition. In connection with the study of Horace, especial attention is given to Latin Prosody, and the Historical and Mythological allusions of the text. In the latter part of the course, the derivation of Latin words, and the development of the language from its older forms, is examined. An introduction to Ecclesiastical Latin as represented by Latin Hymns, or the earlier fathers, and to Juridical Latin by free translations from Cicero pro Cluentio, are important features of the course. The writing of Latin essays is a regular exercise of the Junior and Senior Classes.

GREEK LANGUAGE.

The study of the Greek is continued throughout the course, with more time devoted to it in the earlier classes. The continental method of pronunciation is adopted, and the written accent observed in reading. Exercises in translating English into Greek, accompanied by writing, and illustrated on the black-board, form part of the course. The Etymology of Words, and Comparative Philology, render the recitations interesting. The Historians, Poets, and Orators of the best age of Grecian literature form the authors in the course.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

In this department, during the Freshman year, attention is given chiefly to English History, Rhetoric and Elocution as a foundation for succeeding work. The Sophomore year begins with a thorough mastery of the elements of Anglo-Saxon Grammar, as a necessary preparation for the etymological study of words, in the texts of such authors as Chaucer, Spenser and Bacon. These English classics are studied largely in the same mode and with the same thoroughness as the Greek and Latin. The Junior year is appropriated mainly to literary analysis and criticism, with Shakespeare and Milton as text-books. The Senior year is devoted to the subjects of Political and Social Science. Besides this there are weekly exercises in each class in Essay-Writing, Declamations, Orations or Debates.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

This Modern Language, unsurpassed in its rich stores of literature, science, and theology, is made a part of the regular College course. Opportunities are thus afforded for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the language, as instruction and exercises therein are continued throughout the entire course.

During the Junior and Senior years the language is exclusively employed in the class-room.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Two Literary Societies are connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian. These exert a favorable influence in the intellectual and social culture of their members. Their halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are conveniently and handsomely furnished. Their sessions are held every Wednesday afternoon.

Reading rooms are connected with the Societies, containing the prominent daily, weekly and monthly issues of the press.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library, to which all the students have access without charge, contains many valuable works.

The collection, however, is not receiving supplies adequate to the wants of the Institution. By the gift of $1000, a number of years ago, from friends of the College, given in small sums, considerable additions have been made year by year. This fund by judicious investment now amounts to $1500, and yields about $150 per annum. Donations to this object, either in money or books, are earnestly solicited.

The Libraries of the Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, to which annual additions are made by appropriations for that purpose. These Libraries are accessible to the members of the Societies, under their respective regulations.

The College Library contains	-	-	-	7,200 vols.
The Phrenakosmian	"	-	-	6,000 "
The Philomathæan	"	-	-	6,000 "
The Linnæan	"	-	-	100 "
The German Society	"	-	-	250 "
Total,	-	-	-	19,550

CABINETS AND MUSEUM.

Few Colleges possess a more complete Mineral Cabinet than the one now belonging to Penna. College. It comprises very complete suites of most minerals. The Botanical Collection is well arranged and contains a full representation of American Flora. Other natural sciences are less fully illustrated by collections.

GYMNASIUM.

This Edifice, to which John B. McCreary, Esq., of Philadelphia, made the chief contribution, with its apparatus and furniture, affords opportunity for exercise, recreation, and good physical culture. The students attend, under such regulations as they themselves, in their Gymnasium Association, establish, and ample time is afforded for voluntary exercise.

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a Public Examination at the close of each College term. In case of failure to be present at the Examination, from physical inability, or indispensable call of duty, excused by the Faculty, the Examination is held at the discretion of the Faculty, either before the student shall withdraw, or at nine o'clock of the first day of the next term, before entering his name on the roll of the class.

A careful record of the attendance, scholarship, and conduct of each student is kept; a copy of which record is transmitted to parents or guardians, at the close of each term.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must, on re-entering, sustain an examination upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

The final examination of the Graduating Class is held five weeks before Commencement, from which time they are subject only to such duties as are required for their preparation for Commencement. Those who absent themselves during this interval must return before the delivery of the Baccalaureate Address of the President.

DEGREES.

To all members of the Graduating Class, in full and regular standing, a diploma is granted conferring the Academic degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The degree of Master of Arts is conferred, in course, on Bachelors of three or more years standing; but, by resolution of the Board of Trustees, all applicants for the Master's degree must make application to the Faculty, in writing, at least one week before the Annual Commencement.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on students who, with adequate previous attainments, pursue a special scientific course and sustain an examination for the degree.

All members of the Senior Class, upon their entrance on the last session of their course of study, pay an extra fee of Five Dollars to the Treasurer, with their college bills, which is refunded in cases of failure to obtain the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Several Scholarships have been taken by congregations as well as individuals. G. W. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and Hon. Edward McPherson, LL. D., of Gettysburg, have each established a Scholarship for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most successful and indigent pupil, who shall pass through the prescribed course in the High School of Gettysburg.

PRIZES.

The Freshman Prize.—A friend of the College has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to the Institution, the interest of which is given at the close of the year to that member of the Freshman Class who, upon examination, is found to have attained the highest degree of scholarship in all the regular studies of his class.

The prize for 1864, (Class of 1877,) was awarded to EDWIN J. FARBER, of Baltimore, Md.

Hassler Latin Prize.—Mr. Charles W. Hassler has furnished a fund, the interest of which is annually expended for the purchase of a Gold Medal, to be presented to the student of the Junior class, who, at the end of the year, shall have shown the greatest proficiency in the Latin Language.

This Medal was awarded last year, (Class of 1875,) to JAMES MCCONAUGHY, of Gettysburg, Pa.

Graeff English Prize.—This Prize was founded by the Rev. John E. Graeff, of Philadelphia. A Gold Medal is awarded for the best Essay from the Senior Class, on a subject previously assigned. The decision is made by a Committee appointed by the Professor of English Literature.

The Class of 1874 wrote on Tennyson's "Idyls of the King." The Prize was awarded to B. FOCHT, of Lewisburg, Pa.

The Class of 1875 writes on Drake's "The Culprit Fay."

The Committee of award this year consists of

PROF. V. L. CONRAD, Philadelphia, Pa.

REV. C. A. SMITH, D. D., " "

REV. JOEL SCHWARTZ, D. D., " "

The successful Essay will be read in public, as announced in the Calendar, on Tuesday Evening, March 23d, at the College Church.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional exercises are held daily in the College Chapel, conducted by the President or Vice-President. In the morning of the Lord's day, the students are required to attend public worship in the College Church, or in such other place of worship as their parents or guardians may designate by written request. In the afternoon, they are required to attend Biblical recitations, conducted by members of the Faculty.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of the Collegiate year, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and traveling expenses, are about as follows:

Board, 39 weeks, at $3.25 per week,	-	-	$126 75
Tuition, for 1st term,	-	-	$20 00
" " 2d "	-	-	15 00
" " 3d "	-	-	15 00
			50 00
Room rent, &c.,	-	-	9 00
Washing,	-	-	12 00
Fuel and Lights,	-	-	10 00
Total for Collegiate Year,	-	-	$207 75

Boarding in clubs may be procured at $2.50 to $3.00 per week.

Double room rent will be charged to any one who occupies a room alone; and notice of desire to do this must be given at the beginning of the year or term.

Parents or guardians may entrust funds for students to any member of the Faculty, and they will be applied as may be required.

The Tuition must in all cases be paid in advance. No student will be allowed to recite with his class until he has shown the Professor a receipt from the College Treasurer, or a note, stating that he has made some satisfactory arrangement with the Treasurer.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Thursday of June. The first term begins nine weeks after the day of Commencement, and continues fifteen weeks; the second term begins three weeks after the close of the first term, and continues twelve weeks; the third term begins one week after the close of the second, and continues twelve weeks, until the day of the Annual Commencement. The Collegiate year is thus divided into three terms, of nearly equal length. The intervening periods of one, three, and nine weeks, are devoted to the vacations.

It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term.

Unexcused absences from recitation are counted as zeros upon the grades.

The attention of parents and guardians is specially called to the fact that absences from recitations, whether at the opening of terms, or at other times, are not excused except for sickness or imperative necessity.

Course of Study.

The course of study in this Department embraces all the branches of a thorough English education, together with the rudiments of Mathematics, of the Latin and Greek Languages, and of Natural Philosophy.

The regular studies are arranged to prepare students to enter College; but the instructions are also adapted to the wants of those who do not design to take a full Collegiate course. Those who wish to engage in business will receive instruction in Book-keeping and Commercial Accounts. Those who are preparing to become teachers or engineers, or to engage in any mechanical pursuits, will be allowed to prosecute such studies, either in the Preparatory or Collegiate Department, as will best qualify them for their proposed calling, for which no additional charge is made.

There are three grades in this Department, and students on entering the Institution, will be admitted to that grade for which they are qualified by previous study. The following includes the list of studies for each grade, with the text-books annexed:

Instruction and Supervision.

The Preparatory Department is under the general direction of the Board of Trustees and Faculty of the parent Institution. The Superintendent and Tutors have special supervision of Department and Instruction. Students have separate rooms for study and sleeping purposes, thus securing the greatest comfort and health.

The Superintendent resides, with his family, in the building and has the supervision of the boarding department and the constant charge of the pupils, making the Institution as home-like and safe a place as possible for boys and young men.

BELLES LETTRES SOCIETY.

A Literary Association has been organized during the past few years, which gives the more advanced students of this Department increased facilities for culture in speaking and writing.

LIBRARIES AND LITERARY SOCIETIES.

All the students in this Department have access, without charge, to the College Library. Those over fifteen years of age have the privilege of joining either of the Literary Societies. (See page 18.)
